

Residents Are Docile, Listening to Rapid Transit Plans

Routes not yet pinpointed, equipment, fares and computer controls planned in this area for the Contra Costa leg of the Five County Bay Area Rapid Transit were discussed Wednesday night in the Williams School, Concord.

One hundred persons, including several from the Walden area, Walnut Creek, listened to an hour-long presentation with projector slides, and they asked questions for another hour.

Probably due to the yet-inexact

McKenzie, location engineer for Tudor Engineering Company, Jack Everson, project director of the Parsons, Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel joint venture, and George McDonald, district information staff member.

Morrison told the audience that two and a half billion dollars will be spent in the five counties in the next 20 years for new freeways, streets, bridges and parking facilities, and this is about four times the estimated $700 million cost of the complete rapid transit system.

He said the average flow of traffic from the Concord area into Oakland over Mt. Diablo Boulevard has grown from some 16,000 cars per day in 1954 to 23,000 last year, or a 35 per cent increase.

THE FIVE counties will vote in November on a proposed bond issue, and a two-thirds majority of the combined peoples of all five counties is needed.

If the bond issue is successful, detailed engineering would be complete in about a year, and construction may begin late in 1961, ending in 1965 or 1966.

The transit officials were greeted by Concord Mayor Don Campbell and several council men.

Walden area residents present included H. B. Brooks, Walnut Improvement Association vice president; Louis Pitto, Donald French, Robert MacHugh, George Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lichens.

THE CONCORD "terminus" station was discussed, and the Walden station only briefly. Someone in the audience suggested Buchanan field as the preferable location for the Concord terminus, but this was not pursued.

It has not been finally decided whether the dual-track train will run on hard-rubber, steel or some other type of track and wheel.

The total transit system has 125 miles, of which Contra Costa leg has 20 miles, measuring from a storage yard, with 28 double tracks, Pitto told members Monday night.

He said the engineers appear to have their minds made up on routings, but the door is not closed to further negotiations and later changes. How determined the group becomes may be decisive, he said.

Grant Burton, president of the Ygnacio Valley Improvement Association, attended the Monday meeting.

Plans Are Finalized For Orinda Cleanup Campaign

Plans were finalized this week for the Make Orinda Clean Campaign.

Sponsoring the campaign are the Orinda Chamber of Commerce, Orinda Beautification Commission, Orinda Association and The Sun, all working in cooperation with the county.

Generally speaking, the campaign is a part of the year-round anti-litter program of the County Public Works Department. The Orinda campaign is concentrated throughout March as a tie-in with National Conservation Month.

ORINDA BOY Scouts will participate in the campaign by cleaning conspicuous areas around the Village and Crossroads; making a "litter" map of areas most needing a cleanup. They will also make signs and place exhibits in the Girl Scouts are hard at work making litterbags which they will distribute. Three troops will clean out planter boxes around town.

Joining the act, the Chamber of Commerce will clean up in front of stores, provide additional containers for litter and have fliers printed with "Keep Orinda Clean" for placement in grocery bags.

Improvement Associations will be asked by the Orinda Association to conduct clean-up campaigns in their own neighborhoods.

SCHOOLS, TOO, will join the clean sweep and clean up around buildings, grounds and playgrounds. Grades four through eight will conduct and anti-litter-bug poster campaign with the theme of "Make Orinda Clean."

Winning posters will be placed on display around town and library March 15 through 31. Eight winning posters will be on display from each school. Orinda's Garden Clubs are cooperating with the school projects.

Two Arrested, Machine Seized In Pinball Raid

Two men were arrested and a multiple play pinball machine was confiscated Tuesday night as the result of a sheriff's office vice squad raid on the Shillalah Cafe, 3335 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette.

The raid was the second gambling-pinball machine attack on the Lafayette cafe in the last four months.

THE BARTENDER, John vonMeier, 55, of Concord, and the alleged pinball machine player, Gordon Woodrow Jantzen, 41, of 3322 Bickerstaff Street, Lafayette, were arrested on charges of violating the state anti-gambling law.

They were released on $105 bail each, and are scheduled to appear before Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn in the Walnut Creek Municipal Court at 2 p.m. March 14 for arraignment on the misdemeanor charges.

Sheriff's deputies said two vice squad undercover men visited the Shillalah Tuesday night, and witnessed Jantzen's winning of 40 games on the "Bali Gaiety" machine within five minutes about 10 p.m.

THE OFFICERS reported that upon winning the games, Jantzen looked at vonMeier behind the bar, and the bartender nodded. Jantzen allegedly erased the games on the machine.

When the Lafayette man went to the rest room, officers said, vonMeier placed $100 in the ash tray at Jantzen's seat, and when the alleged player returned and picked up the money, the arrests were made.

A similar raid was conducted at the Shillalah last October 24, and an earlier sheriff's office gambling raid focused on the Lafayette bar in January, 1955.

Yo-Yo Winners Seize Prizes

Winners of Orinda Schools' recreation department yo-yo contest were John Heller and Connie Calhoun, both 9-year-old fourth graders. As prizes the children were permitted to seize whatever they could in one minute at a local toy counter.

Connie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Calhoun, 40 Miner Road, managed to collect two point sets, three kites, a clay modeling kit and a tea set, as her reward for winning the girls' division.

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Heller, 335 El Toyonal, grabbed a racer car, a football, a basketball, two baseballs, four kites and a model missile launcher. He won the boys' championship.

UP FOR GRABS were prizes at a local store for Johnnie Heller (left) and Connie Calhoun, both nine-year-old yo-yo experts and fourth graders at the Orinda School. The two won the Orinda Union School District's yo-yo contest recently, and as their reward, were permitted to "grab all you can" in the way of prizes at the local store. Each winner had one minute to grab all he could. —Sun Photo by Elwood Hansen.

Nadya Roegiers In Contest Win

Nadya Roegiers, a Miramonte High School senior, won the club level competition of the 23rd annual Lions Student Speakers Contest before the Orinda Lions last week at the Casa Orinda.

Topic of this year's contest is "People to People—Keyto World Understanding."

Nadya won over two other Miramonte students, Sue Dunshie and Bob Davis. They received their awards from Don Foster, local contest chairman, and Stewart Wade, Lions Club president.

Judges for the competition were Miss Donna Riley, dean of girls at Del Valle High School; Nathan Gray, president of the Orinda Union School District board of trustees; and Robert Erlich, a Del Valle instructor.

Miss Roegiers, who also won the Orinda club's contest last year, will compete with winners from the Berkeley and Montclair areas sometime before March 20.

Acalanes Grad Is 4th Victim Of Headon Crash

A young Acalanes High School graduate now residing in Pittsburg died Wednesday in the County Hospital, Martinez, to become the fourth victim of a tragic head-on collision on Kirker Pass Road.

She was Mrs. Karen Sue Yount, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McCullough, 992 Old Hawthorne Drive, Lafayette. Mrs. Yount had lain in serious condition in the hospital from the time of the collision, about 6 p.m. Monday, until her death Wednesday.

Three men en route to their Concord homes were also killed and a fourth was seriously injured as a result of the grinding crash, which the California Highway Patrol said was caused when Mrs. Yount's northbound auto crossed over the double white line.

The dead men were Earl S. Wirtz, 33, of 4402 Churchill Drive; Reno J. Passoni, 45, of 1337 Davis Avenue; and Thomas David Zallac, 25, of 2104 Athene Drive, all of Concord. Kenneth D. Morgan Jr., 26, of 4383 Cheltenham Court, Concord, is listed in poor condition.

In addition to her parents, Mrs. Yount is survived by her husband, Arthur A. Yount of Pittsburg, and a sister, Mrs. John DeMello of Hayward.

Following her graduation from the Lafayette high school, the young woman attended Diablo Valley College and Oakland City College. She was a native of Oakland.

Judge Betsy Rahn May Have Clear Field for Race

Unless some attorney today declares his intent to run for the judgeship of the Walnut Creek Municipal Court, Judge Betsy Rahn will run unopposed in a clear field.

Candidates must file their intent to run 30 days prior to the election, April 6. To date no other candidate has filed.

Jackson Davis, considered a possible candidate, stated yesterday that he has no intention of running for the judgeship.

In a statement announcing her candidacy, Judge Rahn said: "Despite having been elected to serve a six year term as Judge of the Walnut Creek Judicial District at the elections in 1958, it has been ruled that since the court has been elevated to the status of a municipal court it will be necessary for me to stand for reelection in 1960.

"The campaign promises which I made when I was running for election in 1958 have been fulfilled by me. Before my induction into office as Judge of the Justice Court of the Walnut Creek Judicial District I terminated my active practice of law.

"Since taking office in January, 1959, I have devoted full time to the office of Judge of the Justice Court for the whole year of 1959. Despite claims made by others in that election that this was not a full time job, I have been kept busy five days a week in the Judgeship.

"Another promise made in the 1958 campaign was that I would establish a Driver Improvement

Orinda Fire Chief Retired Tuesday After 16 Years

Chief Everett Wyatt of the Orinda Fire Department retired Tuesday after 16 years with the department, about 15 of which he served in the capacity of chief.

The retirement will become effective April 1 when Wyatt officially leaves the department. The Board of Commissioners of the Orinda Fire Protection District have named Winsor to the post of chief. He will assume his new duties on April 1.

Wyatt, who lives at 5901 Broadway, Oakland, plans to travel for awhile with Mrs. Wyatt. Asked about his future plans, the chief said, "I'm going to join the loafers."

Fellow members of the department have commended Wyatt for his excellent service throughout his 16 years with the Orinda Department.

Association Planners Start Study Of Proposal

Residents of the Sleepy Hollow and Minerinda areas continued their collective fight against a county proposal to relocate Bear Creek Road on the south shore of the East Bay Municipal Utility District's proposed Briones Valley Reservoir.

Representatives of the two areas met with members of the planning committee of the Orinda Association Monday to discuss the matter. The planners reported they had heard nothing official from the county on the road plan, even though they are supposed to receive information about all improvements affecting Orinda.

The committee indicated it will make a further study of the road plan and will report to the residents at a later date.

VIC KINGSTON, Orinda Association president, also attended the meeting, and he assured the group the association directors will discuss the matter at their March 14 meeting.

Residents charge that the proposed road along the south shore is one which will go "from nowhere" and will disturb heavy residential and recreational developments in the Sleepy Hollow area.

The construction of Briones Valley Reservoir will inundate Bear Creek Road and part of Hampton Road, and EBMUD is obligated to replace the road for the residents in the areas which will be affected.

Meanwhile, the Minerinda Improvement Association met after The Sun went to press to discuss the Bear Creek problem.

Local Women Love Tour With German Athletes

By CONNIE PIKE

Many Lafayette hostesses might like to have exchanged places with Mrs. J. P. Van Overveen, 1957 Dolores Drive, and Mrs. Keith Thornton, 3378 Lucille Lane, for the last few days.

The two Lafayette Junior Suburban Women officers, president and international affairs chairman, respectively, chaperoned members of West Germany's Olympic team Tuesday and Thursday on a sightseeing tour of the Bay Area.

The foreigners got a full tour on Tuesday afternoon, when the clubwomen called for them at the Whitcomb Hotel, and set out along a section of the 49-mile scenic drive. Points of interest included the Palace of the Legion of Honor, the beach, Golden Gate Bridge and the park.

THE GERMANS particularly enjoyed Golden Gate Park's Japanese Tea Garden and greenhouse, where they took a number of pictures.

Also pointed out to the visitors were Point Lobos, Seal Rocks, Alcatraz, looking especially forbidding on a grey day, and the Marina where the new Safeway market caught their interest.

One young guest inquired as to the price of eggs. On Tuesday at the Marina Safeway, eggs were going at 47 cents a dozen, which Mrs. Van Overveen explained. The young man replied that in his native land, two eggs would cost 47 cents. All the Germans were intrigued with the market's rotisserie, complete with savory roasting chickens.

"Does anybody steal from the big markets?" Mrs. Van Overveen was asked. She explained the necessity of checking all one's items out before leaving the store.

MRS. THORNTON's group covered much of the same route, including Fisherman's Wharf in their tour. The curious Germans enjoyed looking over many items for sale there, but followed their hostess' advice in what to buy.

The two carloads met at Coit Tower, where the foreigners spotted a teammate who had been seeing the sights alone, on foot. He was "thrilled, and loved San Francisco," he said, but the hills had taken their toll. He climbed into the car gratefully.

Language was no barrier to Mrs. Van Overveen. The German she learned as a girl came haltingly back, and perhaps she crammed a little English, but so long as they spoke their native language slowly, she was able to keep up.

"MY GRAMMAR must have been atrocious," she confessed. But despite this, the guests understood except for the few times when she forgot and lapsed into English.

Mrs. Thornton's guests included one English speaker. She didn't understand the words, she said, but she got the message. There was great rapport among the entire group, the Lafayette women reported—a sense of being "just pals."

In the club president's car were Wubert Egger, Sepp Maier, Sigfried Hug and the group leader, Herr Barnauer. Spellings are unofficial. Although Mrs. Van Overveen collected autographs, she was unable to make out all the writing.

AS MOST WOMEN would, curious Mrs. Van Overveen prodded the group leader, and soon learned that he is married, the father of four, and has a clothing business "in Southern Germany." The other men were "about 20," and some hailed from the Black Forest region.

Or, as one German put it when he saw an American sprinting along the beach in the scantiest of shorts, "What a funny world!"

Assemblies, Sad Farewell And Happy Speech Winners

By JULES NOLLER

The junior class made another showing last Thursday with the production of their class assembly. Tina Cole and Tom Ferguson stole the show with a Mike and Elaine type dialogue called "Misterio" and also with a "down on the farm" dialogue done in an Oklahoma twang.

The musical end of the show was highlighted by a five-piece combo constituted by Rick Layne, Kirk Long, Jim Hackett, Rich Babcock and Bob Adams. Other musical numbers were a singing duo by Barb Syverud and Joanne Hall and a piano solo by Roger Hoyer.

Stan Freberg's satiric version of "The Great Pretender" was pantomimed by Duane Chase (as the girating rock and roll singer) and Ric Keating (playing the hep jazz pianist who doesn't dig rock and roll).

Between each act Bill Powell stood on the stage waiting for a bus and carrying a tree. By the end of the assembly the tree had grown almost five feet. The bus never did show up.

The final act of the show was a can-can chorus line straight from France. Mike Calhoun, Andy DeGrassi, John Walker, Tina Cole, Ric Keating, Bob Boyle, Tom Ferguson, Kirk Miles and Duane Chase, made up the line of ruffled and painted "chorus girls" who ended the show in a frenzy of twirls.

On the Friday following the junior assembly, was the final rally of the year terminating basketball season and preceding Miramonte's game with Acalanes.

The rally was announced in the morning over the P.A. system amid tears from the five yell-leaders — Jeff Neighbor, Squire Friedell, Linda Williams, Sue Henry and Michele Angelo. This rally and game ended their yell leading for the year and also ended pom-pomping for Sue Snow, Katy McQuaid, Sally Spott, Tina Cole, Lonnie Anderson, Kathy Shurtliff, Nancy Gosch and Sue Hightower.

During the rally Miramonte's majorettes — Barb Syverud, Judy Courtwright and Darnelle Palatino — presented a new routine to "A Summer Place." This trio has performed together for the past three years at all Miramonte's main athletic events.

The one-point defeat of Acalanes over Miramonte that night left the pom-pom girls, rooters and yell leaders in a fit of tears as they sang the alma mater at the close of the game. Even though their spirits hung low, the Miramonte rooters packed St. Stephen's Church for their last after-game dance.

Some of the couples together at the dance were Walt Altforer and Barbie Brush; Dick Miles and Janice Twining; Milt Howe and Katy McQuaid; and Charlie Blue and Sally Spott.

The music for dancing was provided by Tom Brooks' Combo, which includes Tom on the clarinet, Mike Rolley on drums and John Calderwood on the piano. Alumnus Buddy Seeds took over the drums during part of the evening.

Nadya Roegiers, Miramonte senior, took first place honors in the Orinda Lions Club "People to People — Key to World Understanding" speech contest last week. Bob Davis and Sue Dunshee tied for second place. Nadya will compete against Enrique Lopez-Bruno, the Spanish exchange student and winner of the Moraga Lions Club Contest if they both reach the finals of the contest.

Jan Miller and Sue Dunshee have been chosen by the American Field Service to represent Miramonte in a summer-student program to Europe next summer. They were chosen on the basis of their interviews, essays, and applications by the New York headquarters of the A.F.S. program. As yet, homes have not been found for the girls to stay in, but they will be there for the summer only.

Tonight, Miramonte girls will honor their fathers at the Father-Daughter banquet in the school cafeteria. This occasion is an annual event sponsored by the Girls' League, whose president is senior Dana Cook. The girls will keep their fathers happy by serving them dinner and entertaining them with a variety show.

Next Monday, the senior representatives to the Parents Club will attend a meeting to plan further for the senior all-night party. This will be held the night of graduation on June 16 at the Athens Club in Oakland.

The seniors must sign up by April 8 in their American Problems classes in order to attend the party. Remember seniors, the more that sign up for the party and pay the $12.50, the better the party and professional entertainment will be.

Sleepy Hollow: Upper Grades Join in Planting

Last Thursday and Friday, boys from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades planted 18 trees in the vicinity of Camino Pablo and El Toyonal under the supervision of Mr. Weber and Mr. Ferro. These were the trees planted by the school's Parents' Club.

Inland Valley: Safety

This past week about 75 Inland Valley students have been participating in the school-sponsored bike safety program. The program was supervised by Mr. Louis Latner. Only fourth, fifth and sixth grade students who have successfully completed the program may ride their bikes to school.

The students are very much enjoying the new set of encyclopedia recently given to the school by the Parents' Club.

A note of caution to parents of children living in the vicinity of Inland Valley School—construction activities on the new intermediate school site have made playing in or walking through the construction area over the weekends rather dangerous.

Del Rey: Refinery

Scott Simmon and Marshall Snover, members of Mr. Robertson's fifth grade class at Del Rey, engaged in a study of the refining of crude oil. After extensive research reading they compiled a report covering various methods of treating the crude oil.

To enable the class to understand the refining process better, the two boys built a model illustrating the flow. By using varying colors they were able to show the steps by which crude oil passes from the asphalt mixing tank into the fractionating column, and through cooling units into the requisite storage tanks for gasoline, oil and asphalt.

Pine Grove: Skiing

The bulletin board on Asia in Mr. Rinov's seventh grade class at Pine Grove School has finally been completed. Temples, Asian animals and boats are represented. Woody Norza has drawn the Great Wall, while several girls helped draw "The Roof of the World."

Last weekend the class had the privilege of seeing Mr. Rimov on skis. He surprised his students and even gave them lessons.

THE POETRY MUSE has visited Miss Tighe's class at Pine Grove. Many interesting poems have been written as a result of reading the works of Emerson, Keats, Frost, Garland, Whittier, Longfellow, Browning and others.

Results of the school's dental health poster contest were announced by Mrs. Rossi, district art consultant. For the seventh grade, first honors went to Russ Scott and Ron Meyers. Second place: Meredith Mitchell; honorable mentions went to Judy Gilbert, Mark Nelson, Jim Coffey, Jim Reynolds, Jack Kammeijer, Ann Walker and Pat Dewing.

Eighth grade winners were Kimberley Perry, first place; Leslie Smith, second place; honorable mentions to Jerie Rugaber, Sharon Huebschwerlen, Jerry Trumbly, Nancy Casey, Scott Hallsted, Ron Bailey.

Also Virginia Burde, Nan Van Gelder, Jan Snow, Susie Colwell, Marilyn Anderson, Toni Ayres, Dorothy Spear, Bob Benzanon (2), Jill Baron, Sheldon Lawrence, Bonnie Beasley, Linda Bergen, Mike Yedidia, Paul McKeever and Terri Morris.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS at Pine Grove are active in book selection. The school has just received a shipment of over one hundred new books which the assistants helped select from the county book fair at Martinez and the book fair at the new Inland Valley school. Officers of this club are Larry Madin, president; Kimberley Perry, vice-president; Larry Livingston, secretary; Marilyn Singer, seventh grade chairman; Pat Williams, secretary. Others active in the club are John Hecathorn, John Barker, Kathy Spinks, Steven Friel, Chip Gardner and Jeff Kingston.

Last Saturday some 78 eighth grade students, chaperones and a few seventh graders left at 5:30 a.m. for a day at Sierra Ski Ranch. Weather was reported as perfect and students are looking forward to another trip this month.

MR. JACKSON'S seventh grade class had an interesting experiment performed by Mr. Deahl about liquid nitrogen.

To encourage home science activities, eighth grade teacher Mr. Tripp invited students to display any science project they had made at home this year. A prize was awarded to the best, based on creativity, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity and dramatic presentation.

Harry Sigworth won with his cut-away refrigerator. His planning, workmanship and understanding of the principles of refrigeration put his exhibit on top.

Mike Harnish was second with his Tesla Tube, demonstrating high voltage. Other contributions were by Roger Block, an opaque projector; David Cheney, a mechanical brain; Randy Smith, an amateur radio station.

THE OTHER PUPILS' comments indicated that they were highly impressed by the home activities of these young scientists. Judges were Mr. Whinnery of the University of California; Warren Coffey, district science consultant, and William Klein, eighth grade teacher.

On Tuesday, February 23, the seventh grade A basketball team beat their rivals, the Stanley Spartans 38-31. The next day the seventh A's outplayed Stone Valley 33-9.

Glorietta: Basketball

Coach Fisk announced his starting lineup for this week's fifth grade basketball game. The starters are Kevin Smith, Dick Prince, Drew Fernsten, Jimmy O'Brien and Danny Thor.

Mrs. Edlund's fourth graders made some very interesting and attractive place mats for their parents to use at the potluck supper. The pictures on the mats were portraits of their moms and dads.

Mrs. Chambers' first grade decorated the office bulletin board. The office is really flying high in March winds with the wonderful display of kites.

Awards Go to Orinda Students

Outstanding students at Miramonte High School have been awarded Bank of America trophies for their excellence in academic work in specific areas of study.

Named for top honors in the broad fields of liberal arts, fine arts, vocational arts, and mathematics-science were Mickey Wilbur, science; Ruth Thompson, English; Michele Angelo, foreign language; Nancy Grah, social studies; Nadya Roegiers, art; Mario Guarnieri, music; Sue Hightower, business.

Not Starting On New Tunnel Bore

Extensive grading and moving of earth from the slopes at the Orinda side of Broadway tunnel does not mean that construction has started on the new tunnel bore, according to division of highway engineers in San Francisco.

The extensive cutting away of the hillside is to provide materials for Burroughs Construction Company in building the McArthur freeway in Oakland.

Taking this material for the McArthur project will help advance the parallel tunnel bore, but the project isn't scheduled to go to bid until mid-summer.

Questions started 10 days ago when crews began work with bulldozers cutting away the hillside as to whether the construction of the new tunnel had started.

Parking For 1200 Cars Is Proposed

Plans of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District call for parking facilities for 1200 automobiles at the proposed Orinda station, a district representative said here this week.

George McDonald of the district staff gave members of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce a detailed description of plans for the five-county rapid transit system. The chamber met at the Casa Orinda Tuesday.

IN PLANNING for a system such as this, McDonald said, the local area and its residents must be considered in regard to the placement of stations, routing, etc., but "we always have to consider the region as a whole."

This particular system, he added, encompasses the five Bay Area counties of Contra Costa, Alameda, San Francisco, Marin and San Mateo.

Characteristics of the proposed system include high speeds and a minimum of stations to retain these speeds, the comfort of private automobiles and reliability of scheduling, even during peak hours.

AS AN EXAMPLE, McDonald stated, trains will be two minutes apart during peak hours so that commuters won't have to worry about scheduling.

Bill Coburn of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District, which no longer includes the central county, was also present at Tuesday's meeting.

He explained that his district proposes a system of "taking you from your doorstep to this larger rapid transit system." He said this would be accomplished through a new type of bus.

Members of the chamber also appointed Ned DeLaveaga and Ken White to represent the group on the committee to form a Pop Warner football team for Orinda youth.

The team's committee will have a dinner meeting at Mike Lynn's Orinda Willows Thursday night.

'Picnic' a Success For Pine Grove Parents Club

A series of gay dinner parties preceded the Pine Grove Parents Club attendance at "Picnic" last weekend.

Both the dinner parties and the Dramateurs' presentation of the play were called a huge success by those who attended.

Many hours of preparatory work and planning were spent on this one big fund raising event of the year for the Pine Grove Parents Club.

Room mothers who assisted with the project are Mary Windle, Jean Bettencourt, one Creighton, Mrs. A. Newman, Mary Persons, Ann Pollaczek, Barbara Knudsen, Nancy Dupuis and Frances Leibold.

Also assisting as room mothers were Dorothy Dunn, Bea Van Gelder, Mrs. R. Anderson, Una Walstrom, Janet Waters, Ruth Johnson and Mrs. A. F. Thor.

County, Sanitary Unit Approve Plan's Funds

The Lafayette Design Project meets at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel in the Valley, 985 Thompson Road, to decide whether to retain Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation as the designer for a new community master landscape plan.

Green's selection was approved by a special project committee last week, and all that is required now is the formal approval of the full project membership.

MEMBERS of the county board of supervisors agreed Tuesday to allow the expenditure of $2500 in county funds toward Green's fee for the first year of his services. Green has stated that the nationwide foundation which he represents will undertake the development of the plan if the community wants it.

An additional $1500 toward Green's first year fee has been allocated by the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District, which is planning to install a center planter strip on Mt. Diablo Boulevard at the conclusion of its new sewer line construction this summer.

Both public expenditures have been approved, but are contingent upon the signing of a contract between Green and the Lafayette community.

THE DESIGN project will also meet with representatives of the Pacific Telephone Company after their meeting with Green tomorrow. The telephone company asked the project to meet regarding plans for a dial exchange building to be located behind the Happy Valley Inn.

The Sun learned yesterday that Charlie Offen, owner of a local hardware store fronting on Mt. Diablo Boulevard, has circulated a petition informing the sanitary district that the local business community is opposed to the center planter strip.

Directors of the Lafayette

Jay Cees Hear Mel Nielson

The topic for last week's meeting of the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce was "A Day in the Life of Our County Supervisor."

Mel Nielson of the county board of supervisors was introduced by program chairman Jim Dana.

Nielson discussed the weekly agenda for the board, which covers most of the current issues, including the removal of department heads from county civil service, the Bear Creek Road, Shepherd and Canyon freeway.

Nielson also advised the group of the sheriff department's new telephone number, ENterprise 1-1500.

A gardening night program has been arranged by Fred Cummings for Tuesday evening.

Interested persons are invited to attend the group's meetings, which are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays at the Casa Orinda at 8 p.m.

AAUW Sponsors Play Tonight

The Orinda Branch, American Association of University Women, will sponsor the Dramateurs' current production, "Picnic," the weekends of March 4-5, and 11-12.

Sponsoring these productions is the group's one fund raising event of the year, and enables its members to make a sizeable contribution to the AAUW national fellowship and building funds.

According to the fellowship's chairman Mrs. E. W. Hughes, some 150 members and guests are expected to attend each of the four nights.

Orinda Nursery School Parents Meet Thursday

The next general meeting of the Orinda Nursery School Association will be held Thursday in the fellowship hall of the Orinda Community Church at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Mark Hutchison, a volunteer for the Children's Home Society, will be the guest, speaking on adoption.

Hostess for the evening is Mrs. John Van Dyne. Her co-hostesses are the Mesdames J. R. Cunningham, Raymond Dondoro, Glenn Helme, and Roberto Stefan.

Refreshments will be served preceding the meeting at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Not Starting On New Tunnel Bore

Extensive grading and moving of earth from the slopes at the Orinda side of Broadway tunnel does not mean that construction has started on the new tunnel bore, according to division of highway engineers in San Francisco.

The extensive cutting away of the hillside is to provide materials for Burroughs Construction Company in building the McArthur freeway in Oakland.

Taking this material for the McArthur project will help advance the parallel tunnel bore, but the project isn't scheduled to go to bid until mid-summer.

Questions started 10 days ago when crews began work with bulldozers cutting away the hillside as to whether the construction of the new tunnel had started.

Obituaries

Lee Tefs

Requiem mass was held Monday for Mrs. Lee Taylor Tefs, 51, of 71 Quail Court, Walnut Creek, who died the previous Wednesday in Carson City, Nevada.

She was born in Kansas and had been a local resident for 21 years.

The Rosary was spoken Sunday at the Little Chapel of the Flowers, and the mass was recited at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband, Edward; two sons, Leland Taylor and Gavin Tefs of Walnut Creek; her mother, Mrs. Josephine Parkel of Walnut Creek; two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Walsh of Martinez and Mrs. Ann McKenzie of Jackson; two brothers, John Parkel of Walnut Creek and Joe Parkel of Al Tahoe.

George Crandell

George T. Crandell, 3229 Stanley Boulevard, the father of Lafayette Postmaster H. T. (Doc) Crandell, died in a Martinez hospital Sunday following a short illness.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Crandell was an 86-year-old retired accountant. He had lived in Lafayette the last 10 years. He was the husband of the late Ethel B. Crandell.

In addition to the Lafayette postmaster, Mr. Crandell is survived by a grandson, Stephen G. Crandell of Lafayette.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Walnut Creek chapel, Little Chapel of the Flowers (Hull and Son), 1139 Saranap Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

Omer Means

Funeral services were held on Tuesday for Omer H. Means of 2029 Stewart Avenue, Walnut Creek, who lived in the area for 28 years.

The MacFarlane-Bryant Chapel of Concord directed the rites at Chapel of the Chimes, Oakland.

Mr. Means was a retired salesman.

Survivors include five sons, Billy of Novato, James of Hayward, Bud, Robert and Patrick, all of Oakland; three daughters, Mrs. Peggy Joplin of Walnut Creek, Mrs. Rosell Mason of Los Gatos and Mrs. Beth Baker of Georgia, and 17 grandchildren.

James Noble

Funeral services were held on Tuesday for James Hammond Noble, 79, a retired farmer and resident of 48 Willow Avenue, Walnut Creek, for five years.

He died Saturday in a Martinez hospital. The rites were in the Little Chapel of the Flowers.

Survivors include his wife, Martha; two sons, Roy of Walnut Creek and Judson Noble of South Dakota, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

John Claiche

Funeral services were held for John Claiche, 55, of 2237 White Park Avenue, Walnut Creek, Monday at the Little Chapel of the Flowers.

Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth, two sons, William and John Claiche of Walnut Creek, and a daughter, Mrs. Jane Duarte.

She was born in Virginia.

Survivors include her husband, John, and three daughters, Mrs. Helen Maize of Whittier, Mrs. Dorothy Jung of Chicago and Mrs. Grace Stiles of Washington. The services were held in the Little Chapel of the Flowers.

Ancient Indian Dances at Las Lomas, Sunday

Reginald and Gladys Laubin, performing ancient Indian dances, will come to Walnut Creek Sunday, under the auspices of the Central Contra Costa Youth Concerts.

The concerts will be held at Las Lomas High School Auditorium at 2:30 p.m.

The Laubins are honorary members of the Hunkpapa division of the Lakota, or Western Sioux tribe. They lived with these Indians and learned their ways.

BETTER SERVICE will result from the merger of the Concord Real Estate Board into the Contra Costa Real Estate Board, which became final this week. Paul Burton, at left, former Concord Board president, has been named Concord Division chairman. Seated is A. J. (Buck) Johnson, Contra Costa Board president.

Realtors Merge -From Tunnel To Pittsburg

Homeowners from the tunnel to Pittsburg are now being served by one real estate board and one multiple listing service — since the merger this week of the Concord Real Estate Board into the Contra Costa Real Estate Board.

The Contra Costa board members voted for the merger Monday, after a similar vote by the Concord realtors last week.

A. J. (Buck) Johnson presented the plan, Charles Bailey, chairman of the Contra Costa merger committee outlined it; William F. Anderson made a strong plea in its favor, which apparently eliminated scattered opposition.

THE TWO BOARDS formerly each had their own multiple listing service, which enabled a prospective home seller to be listed with all realtors in the respective area, instead of just one or two realtors.

Now, one listing service applies to the entire area, affording greater service, especially the former "fringe" areas of Clayton Valley and Ygnacio Valley.

Elsa Niemann Is Manager, Joseph Magnin

Mrs. Elsa Niemann of Lafayette has assumed the management of the Joseph Magnin Store, 1224 South Broadway, Walnut Creek, succeeding Betty Batesole who has resigned.

Mrs. Niemann formerly lived in Lafayette for 15 years, and earlier worked here as Joseph Magnin Designers Department manager.

She started employment with Joseph Magnin in San Francisco, and most recently has managed the firm's store in Modesto.

She said, "I am so happy to be back in Contra Costa, and am really looking forward to seeing all the people I knew for so many years."

Mrs. Niemann's daughter, Joan, graduated from Acalanes High School, and is now Mrs. Robert Trestrail of Madera, mother of three children.

Mrs. Niemann will be commentator Tuesday at Flamingo Unit, Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, fashion show at the Diablo Country Club.

The fashions will be by Joseph Magnin.

Large Population Growth Indicated in BART Study

Two decades of continuing spectacular population growth are forecast for the nine Bay Area counties in a special report on population and employment trends released today by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

The report forecasts that the population of the five counties now in the district — Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo — will increase from an estimated 2,708,000 in July of this year to a total of 4,135,000 in July, 1980.

FOR THE NINE Bay counties, including the five now in the district and the counties of Napa, Santa Clara, Solano and Sonoma, population growth from 3,730,000 in July, 1960, to 6,200,000 in July, 1980, is predicted.

Thus, the Bay Area will add more people during the coming 20 years than it added during the past 20 years, despite the fact that the predicted percentage rate of increase will be only one-half what it was during the two decades between 1940 and 1960.

The study indicates that by 1980 the population of Contra Costa County will increase from its present approximation of 400,000 to 775,000 persons.

AN ESTIMATED 285,000 of the projected total will be employed in this county 20 years from now, according to the report.

The special report was prepared for the district's economic consulting firm, Elasco Services, Inc., by Economist Van Beuren Stanbery, noted population expert. It is the first of a series of reports which the economic consultants will prepare in analyzing the economic effects on the Bay Area of having — or not having — a modern rapid transit system in the years ahead.

In his report Stanbery notes that the new population and employment projections for 1970 and 1980 are slightly higher than the projections developed by him in 1954 for the former Bay Area Rapid Transit Commission.

"THESE NEW projections are higher," he explained, "because of the unexpected rise of fertility rates and upsurge of births throughout the nation during the five years from 1955 through 1959."

"In view of these unexpected increases, population growth in the United States, California and the Bay Area to 1980 is now expected to exceed the 1954 projections." He noted that California and the Bay Area are expected to continue to grow at a rate far in excess of the rate for the nation as a whole.

Stanbery also pointed out that both the new projections and those made in 1954 assume that the proposed regional rapid transit system will be in operation in the five central counties of the Bay Area before 1970.

"IF THE RAPID transit system is not constructed by 1970," Stanbery said, "the area's population in 1975 and 1980 will probably be smaller than estimated."

Santa Clara and Alameda counties are expected to have the largest numerical increase in population between 1960 and 1980, with most of Alameda County's growth occurring outside of the City of Oakland.

The highest percentage rates of population during the next 20 years, however, are projected for the North Bay counties of Marin (129 per cent); Napa (116 per cent); Solano (125 per cent), and Sonoma (114 per cent).

Professional Fire Fighters Form Countywide Assoc.

Mushrooming from a tiny nucleus of four men who first met last December, the United Professional Fire Fighters of Contra Costa County have already increased their ranks to 150 with an expected membership of more than 500 in the immediate future. Harry Haas of the Mt. Diablo District and temporary president of the association said the chief aim of the association are progress and service. First such organization of its kind in the county, the association will include all professional firefighters in Contra Costa County, representing each district and city. A MASS meeting has been scheduled for March 14 and 15 at the Odd Fellows Hall in Concord. The members must meet at two meetings, Haas said, in order that both A and B shift men can attend. The association is one of three now existing in California, the others being in Los Angeles with a membership of 6000 and in San Francisco with a membership of 3000. Eventually the Contra Costa group will have a seat on the National Council and be represented at the many organizations with which it affiliates. For the first time, announced Harry Rose, public relations director for the association, professional fire fighters have an instrument for unification and exchange of techniques and methods. PLANS HAVE already been made for the group to participate at the Antioch Fair in the Fire-O-Rama, expected to be one of the feature attractions. "This Is It" the organization's news sheet will be edited by Jim Callandar.

Humor to Pathos, Read It Today in 'Suburbia Today'

Emily Post, the world-famous authority on etiquette, talks about social errors made by everyone from school girls to ambassadors and including herself in the March issue of SUBURBIA TODAY, which comes to you in The Sun today.

The cover this month is a brisk, beautiful salute to the season showing its most typical pastime—kite flying. There's also a story on how this former occupation of small boys is becoming an international adult sport.

On the serious side, there's a feature by the distinguished architect Edward Stone, on the merits of row housing as opposed to the minimum house on the minimum lot. Also, a sober discussion on the effect that car-ownership has on the behavior and the grades of our teen-agers.

"Big Splash in the Backyard," is a report on the tremendous increase in private swimming pools.

THERE'S A LOT of humor and human interest, too, as well as serious discussion. First, a riotous playlet by versatile actor-author Peter Ustinov about three husbands and what happens to them when they ask a business friend home for dinner on their anniversaries, with a film strip showing contributor Ustinov as author, actor, musician and family man.

The cartoon page this month pinpoints housebuying and moving. Laugh on, homeowners, unless it hurts too much when you do.

There's a great surprise, too, for recipe-clippers. Our regular food pages are filled with the glorious foods of Italy—kitchen-tested dishes so well-beloved on this side of the ocean that they've almost become as American as apple pie—we're talking about pizza, chicken cacciatore, tagliarini, and lasagne.

Finally there's "Getting Around," our news column, with further surprises, perhaps from YOUR town, and maybe about somebody you know.

All's Right With the World

GOD'S in his heaven, all's right with the world... Everyone who attended services in the Queen of the Snows church at Squaw Valley must have felt that way looking up & out the tall A-glass end of the beautiful bldg. — an inspiring picture of white mountain, blue sky & tall-pines studding the steep slopes like well-placed sentries.

THE FINAL DAY of the VIII Winter Olympics started that way — Perfect. It ended on the same note. Even in the gray cold of morning w/the sun still a debatable question, the ethereal & perfect effect was there when we came together with people of all countries, men & women of all tongues...

WONDERFUL is the only word to describe it — the rosy-cheeked, fine-faced Netherlands priest who spoke to us first in careful English, then said the same thing in understandable French & extended the greetings once more in German. That alone was worth the trip.

FILING OUT, we caught sight of the serious & gentle-faced Italian team members, the fresh-faced kids of the Canadian Team whose handsome Hudsons Bay mackinaws in bold stripes of red, green, black & yellow were surely the brightest costumes of any group.

Down the steps Governor Brown smiled a Good Morning greeting as he chatted w/Alex Poulson, Squaw land-owner who looked like a rugged member of the Scandinavian team in a navy blue coat.

Just like home, we ran into dentist Gene Garbarino who was laden down w/lunch & camera equipment & wore on his head a salty Aleutian hat that had belonged to his military papa. Gene introduced us to Bob Partridge, a new man about town w/the Central Valley Bank in Orinda. They had left by Greyhound at 2 a.m. for this last Big Do which w/the sun starting to climb in the sky, held promise of a too-good-to-be-true finale for the Olympiad.

We strolled over to watch the speed skaters — each stride of the Norwegian champ looked 12' long... We marvelled at the collection of color in costumes & characters lining the exhibit skating rink & watched w/wonder, the gazelle-like grace of the Canadian brother & sister team, the Russian twosome's polished performance in their tapershorean trickery.

With One Foot in Heaven

By 10 a.m. spectators were streaming into the Valley now brilliant under the strong sun. The slopes glistened in stark whiteness against blue skies meringued w/egg-white clouds. It was like having One Foot In Heaven!

THE MORNING HOCKEY GAME's crowd started to disperse towards the Ski Jumping area & w/this greatest event of all slated for 11 a.m., excitement seemed to seethe through the crowds. This being the last day, it was like those precious minutes before midnight when you want to hold on to time as long as possible!

AT SQUAW WE THAW... As Ol' Sol warmed up, so did we, shedding coats & mittens & by Yumping-Yimminy, at Jump Time, we were settled for the event on top of some supply drums, w/a good start on sun-burned noses.

In ski clothes or just plain old galoshes & slacks, Everybody looked good — healthy & happy, convivial, exuding a kind of close-knit camaraderie of One for All & All for one... The knapsacks & the knickers rubbed shoulders w/the minks & the mouton. The tyrolean hats authentic tipped to the tyrolean hats of thin souvenir felt. We saw a dozen raccoon coats & at least 120 shades of stretch pants, not to mention purple cowboy boots, purple stretchies & a purple-tinted head of hair.

THE SWEDE we "skol," a stand-out in their yellow parkas w/blue trim... The Norwegian's fairness set off by the darkness of their official uniforms, navy coats w/the red, white & blue Norske flag on the sleeves & handsome knit knee sox of blue-gray pattern & navy knickers.

One well-known SF socialite stood w/her back to the Ski Jump for the 2-hr. duration of the event bending the ear of Sweden's dashing Prince Bertil & altho' they had a vantage viewing spot, it's doubtful they saw ONE jumper! Gab, gab, gab!

In the press qtrs. we saw Robin Orr of Orinda, Kay & Al Wahl of Laf., Ray Haywood of Orinda all taking two-out from typewriter talents. We took the occasion to thank Ray for the laughs we got from his column re: Socialite situation at Squaw. That's one for the scrapbook!!

COFFEE in the press bldg. while typewriters whirled away & keyed-up excitement permeated the room... Movie Star Tony Curtis wearing an unhealthy pallor was pounced upon for autographs & wife Janet Leigh posed for pix w/one of the press people's progeny.

THE IBM machines doing an amazing job of feeding information... The food booths doing NOT such a terrific job of feeding the hungry spectators. NOW if they invented an IBM machine that produced a prime hot dog that WOULD be something. Untouched by human hands & delivered to you with or without onions depending on the button you push... Work on it, will you?

WE HEAD for the Hills & back to the Jumps w/Bob & Stella Boyle of Sleepy Hollow (he's Hills Bros. ad exec whose favorite coffee bean aroma wafted over from the Olympic Village & even the coffee-conscious Scandinavians couldn't complain.) Settled once more for the JUMPS we glimpsed the Ed Barnetts of Laf., in the teeming crowd... They had been up for the wk. staying at their Truckee place.

Heading for home early afternoon was Bea Cave of Orinda who w/her husband Reece had been up for the entire period. HE an IBM Liaison official. Bea had stayed w/the wife of Swiss Skier Andreas Dasher & had both Andreas & his wife Nerina in tow, taking them home to Orinda for a short stay before the Zurich athlete headed for some exhibit skiing in Canada. Reece was not expected home til' Mon. or mid-week.

Some Like It Cold!

Trekking through the snow we saw Jack Geyer, Public Relations director of the games who made his home here in Orinda last summer. He was wearing the official navy blue jacket & a harried & haunted look. Could be because everybody was hunting him, his job one of the HARDEST in the Olympic set-up.

WE MET more wonderful Scandinavians. We were wearing our Norwegian hand-knit sweater & on top of our head, an embroidered skull cap from Norway (part of our dgter's native bunad costume). At one point in the press bldg., a brassy American blonde greeted us wildly — "I don't know about YOUR country but mine's doing fine!" We kept quiet & played a good game. But when we talked w/the Nordic folk, we punctuated our conversation w/enthusiastic Ya, ya's whenever we got the chance.

FOLLOWING THE SKI jump event, we waited below for the champs & leave it to Stella Boyle to beat everybody out for the first photograph of the champ, the iceman who jumpeth, Germany's Helmut Recknagel. His 305' leap, the American announcer compared to "longer than a football field" & as Bob Boyle remarked, in America we measure EVERYTHING by football fields.

BACK to the Braunschweiger & Kummest cheese in our box lunch (the same fare we'd breakfasted on) & after a Tuborg beer & some souvenir shopping, we watched Lowell Thomas do a TV bit. He looked the real explorer-commentator in his sealskin coat & grey caracul hat. We talked to Berger Thorresen, Norwegian Games consultant who was an old friend from Lake Placid days & ditto Art Devlin, America's star performer at '36 Olympics whom we last saw 4 yrs. ago at Placid. Under a beret & behind dark glasses was a little man from a Paris paper who turned out to be too, another old-time friend from New York. We bumped into Jay Jacobus & his son Jay who were up for the day. Saw the Bill Leonards w/the James Dupuises.

SMALL WORLD, Big Wonder... The red sleigh pulled by horses wearing jingle harnesses, a gay & Old Worldish sight... The five helicopters offering rides $5. or $10 were kept hopping by a never-ending line of people ready for the joy-ride... The Japanese, Austrians & Italians browsing the shops where most American souvenirs bore the imprint "Made In Japan" (or Austria or Italy)... Two male members of the Russian team tripping carefully across the snow, leaping w/Nijinsky-nimbleness across the puddles lest they splatter their best black patent leather dress shoes. So fancy & foolish-looking in the melting mess.

THE SUN starting its day done journey downward when the Closing Ceremony got under way... A lump in the throat feeling for the length of the program... The anthem of each country played by the U.S. Marine Band & Olympics team members lining up in Pomp & Circumstance precision. Cannons cracked, doves dispersed & finally the singing of the clear Cal Tech voices "No Man Is An Island" & the torch put out, the Winter Olympics officially closed.

We stood & shivered, but not from cold... The goose pimples running up & down our spine were not ALL from the late afternoon

All labor and assistance on the planning has been volunteer.

The new location will provide expanded facilities for the church school and youth programs. In addition to the present classes for the children, there will be groups for intermediates, high school and adults.

Also, the evening youth group will be able to center its activities there.

The spiritual relationship of God and the man of His creating will be emphasized in the Scriptural readings which include this verse: "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" (Psalms 27:1).

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following: "No thing but the power of Truth can prevent the fear of error, and prove man's dominion over error" (380:19).

The Golden Text is from Genesis 1:27: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him."

3 More Grants For St. Mary's

Three grants have been presented to Saint Mary's College, it was announced today by Brother S. Albert, F.S.C., president of the college.

Two of the grants are from major industrial firms and have been earmarked for faculty salaries. An award of $1500 was received from Texaco Corporation and the Gulf Oil Corporation, under its program of direct grants to independent colleges, has doubled its annual donation.

The third is an aid-to-education grant from the Sears-Roebuck Corporation as a part of its national merit scholarship program. Wallace Cameron, manager of Sears-Roebuck store in Oakland, made the presentation to Brother S. Albert on behalf of the foundation. The grants are awarded to colleges attended by national merit scholars because current tuition charges do not reflect the school's entire costs of educating the students.

Grant Permits St. Mary's To Offer Special Program

Under an $8740 grant from the national science foundation, Saint Mary's College will offer a six-week training program in physical science to secondary school students of high ability this coming summer, it was announced here today.

The program, to be directed by Dr. Albert Costa, instructor in chemistry at Saint Mary's, will be limited to 25 high school boys. Other members of the staff will be Saint Mary's College instructors.

USING A relatively new approach to the teaching of science, the program is designated to foster the scientific interests of the academically-gifted student, Dr. Costa said.

Content will be drawn from astronomy, physics and chemistry, with emphasis on the historical development of certain areas of the sciences. Central themes underlying the various subjects to be presented will be the growth of our ideas concerning the physical world.

In describing the projected courses, Dr. Costa said, "We will consider how we arrived at our

Have Thumb, Will Travel Youth Visits 28 Countries

By JEAN NERNIGAN

A world traveler, not yet 21, Emil Reynolds of 307 Gregory Lane, Pleasant Hill, has traveled in 28 foreign countries and the United States.

His experiences range from the exotic adventure of "trembling" through the Casbah to the completely American, earthy experience of playing varsity football for Pleasant Hill High School.

Reynolds was born in Kingston, New York, but shortly thereafter any resemblance to the average youth's childhood ceased.

His father, Dallas MacReynolds, a free lance writer of travel articles and science fiction is partly responsible for Reynolds' education and travels abroad; however, a spirit of adventure, "itchy" feet and limber thumb have led Reynolds to most of his adventures.

COMPARING FOREIGN classes with those in this country, the youth said, "Classroom periods are longer and the students are more studious and work harder. In fact, students do not go to school unless they really learn." Reynolds speaks Swedish, Greek, German and Spanish fluently, learning most of his linguistic skills at the Burlesque Language School in Vienna.

On the subject of dating, the attractive, blond, blue eyed youth had this to say, "The Swedish and German girls were easy to meet and could stay out late right away. The Italian, French, Greek and Spanish girls were strictly chaperoned and difficult to meet."

In Spain one has to be introduced to a girl by a close member of the family. The girl is always chaperoned and it takes three months to reach the hand holding stage. At five months you're engaged whether you know it or like or not. It got tired after about three months."

REYNOLDS HAS never been on a guided tour, using his thumb, ingenuity and wits, he managed to travel throughout Europe on $40 or less per month on his recent "on his own" tour.

Whenever funds ran short, the enterprising youth would find a job, usually working as a tutor of English and companion to some European youth.

Probably one of the youngest "retired" travel agency managers, Reynolds managed an agency in Torremolina, southern Spain.

One of the rugged youth's more interesting experiences was his "hitchhike" trip to the Arctic on a fishing trawler. Believed to be the youngest American to travel to the Arctic, Reynolds celebrated his seventeenth birthday aboard the trawler.

"I WORKED AS a regular seaman," he remarked, "chipping ice, sorting fish, and what have you."

A third trip to Europe as the guest of Uncle Sam is in the near future for Reynolds. Attached to the Fifth Missile Battalion, 41st Artillery, he reports to Fort Dix, New Jersey March 15 for shipment abroad.

Reynolds would like to work for a travel agency upon his release from the Army. He said, "I am good at talking people into going to far away places that they had no intention of visiting when they come to the agency to plan a short trip."

Death of Dog Teaches Bee-Bee Gun Dangers

A 15-year-old Lakewood area boy and a small shepherd dog, a neighbor's pet, both discovered that B-B guns are dangerous, Sunday afternoon.

The boy is sorry, and the dog is dead.

The dog, the 12-year-old pet of the R. W. Davis family, 270 Lakewood Road, died convulsively of a 22 caliber pellet which penetrated between the ribs. The shot was heard by a number of residents in the area.

THE BOY, a good student and well liked by his peers, admitted owning a .22 caliber pump B-B gun but denied shooting it in recent weeks.

But, counseled by his father, he changed his mind and made

Strong Statement Issued By Page On Endorsement

A strong statement was issued by Douglas Page of Walnut Creek, last Saturday, after his endorsement as Democratic nominee to oppose Sixth District Congressman John Baldwin in the November elections.

Page was endorsed at the fourth Democratic primary convention held at Martinez Junior High School, and attended by some 200 delegates, 60 of which were from the central county area.

Primaries are in June. ENDORSED for reelection were 17th Senatorial District incumbent George Miller of Martinez and Assemblyman Jerome Waldie of Antioch, who represents the Tenth Assembly District.

Attorney John T. Knox, Congressional District co-chairman for Contra Costa County, was given the endorsement for S. C. (Brick) Masterson's 11th Assembly District seat, although John Sheridan, former Richmond mayor, was proposed for endorsement.

The Democrats voted to endorse attorney William Beeman as candidate for the Solano County senatorial district post now held by Vallejo Publisher Luther Gibson.

Gibson did not apply for a formal endorsement, but he attended the convention. He did not indicate whether he would oppose Beeman or allow his name to be entered in the primaries.

PAGE, in his statement, said in part:

"He said, 'Baldwin should be retired to the comfort of a seat in his Martinez law office, rather than suffer the daily pains of straddling sharp political fences.' 'The incumbent squeaked through to victory in 1958 over Howard Jewel, at that time a political unknown.' 'I believe the people of Contra Costa and Solano now know they can best be served by a member of the majority party who is more concerned with the bread and butter issues of the day than in being re-elected every two years,' Page said.

PAGE POINTED out the congressional district has five major military installations, critical fuel storage areas, and basic industries and a waterway leading to the west's greatest seaport. 'In any war, limited or otherwise,' Page warned, 'our communities will be the number one target of the enemy. If atomic war comes, there will be no survivors. We are in constant danger until the great powers solve their differences and a just and lasting peace is assured.' 'I shall support those who stand for a cessation of nuclear testing and controlled disarmament.'

"I must say that I agree with the President when he says 'A deterrent has no added power, once it has become completely adequate . . . to make a future opponent act prudently.'"

"I DISAGREE with those in both parties who talk only of more and more spending in the arms race. 'I will, of course, support an adequate defense and retaliation program to discourage those who might gamble on aggression.' 'I believe in America and its capacity to produce for peace, as it has for war and defense,' Page said. 'A reduction in military expenditures—as a result of international agreements—can reduce taxes and release funds and energies for much neglected developments at home.

"These can provide the base for full employment."

"Think of the schools, hospitals, roads, dams, parks and medical research that need our attention and money," Page continued.

PAGE WARNED that we can't trust Republican leadership to plan or solve the economic dislocation that will follow when peace is firmly established.

"It will take the bold imagination of a party that led our nation out of the chaos of the thirties and to victory in a war against aggression to avoid any economic collapse," Page said.

"During my campaign I will offer the voters a choice between a congressman who will provide leadership on the great issues of our time—or silence."

"I will ask the voters to choose a congressman who will work on the important problems of the district and national effectively, or keep one who spends his time electioneering and measuring voter appeal on each issue," Page challenged.

PAGE WAS born near Fresno 34 years ago. He enlisted when 17 years old in the Army Air Corps.

After service, he entered the University of California. After graduation, he attended and received his law degree at Boalt Hall.

He is a former president of the Contra Costa Federation of Democratic Clubs and a partner in the Martinez law firm of Condon, Dolgin and Page.

Board Approves Plan to Raise Graduation Units

Acalanes High School District trustees this week approved a long range plan designed to raise graduation requirements for local secondary schools. The first stage of the plan will go into effect in June of 1962.

Under the proposal approved, present graduation requirements of 220 semester periods will be raised to 230 semester periods for graduates of 1962, and 240 semester periods for graduates in 1963 and thereafter.

Since the change in requirements does not go into effect until 1962, juniors and seniors currently enrolled in Acalanes District schools will not be affected. Current sophomores will be required to take one additional course; current freshmen will be required to take two additional subjects for graduation eligibility.

TRUSTEES STATED that the 220 units currently required is based on the number of courses open to students in a six-period day. The Acalanes District this year inaugurated a seven-period study day. "Increasing the required units from 220 to 240 essentially means that students will be required to take two additional courses in their four year high school program," school officials explained.

In addition to the change in units required for graduation, trustees also stipulated that students must have a satisfactory citizenship record, and in general have displayed four years of "successful" work for graduation eligibility.

District Superintendent Neil M. Parsons described the board rulings on graduation requirements as "part of a district effort to strengthen standards, and extend the academic exposure of all students."

TRUSTEES ALSO heard a progress report from Gordon G. Gibson, principal of the summer session to be offered in the Acalanes District this summer June 20 to July 29. Gibson discussed the types of courses which will be offered, teacher applications for instruction positions, anticipated attendance for pupils ranging from eighth grade graduates to high school seniors, and other summer program plans. Gibson stated that a folder on summer session outlining complete details will soon be available for all interested students and parents.

Trustees heard a report by Dr. Max Appleby, assistant superintendent in charge of educational services. Dr. Appleby reviewed "an active program of coordinating committee functioning on the board level, between superintendents, and with teachers of the high school district and elementary districts within the Acalanes District."

Appleby stated that curriculum coordinating committees in a wide variety of subject areas are continuing to meet monthly to articulate the elementary and secondary instructional programs.

In other action trustees: 1. Approved bids for $23,247 for purchase of foreign language laboratory equipment under provisions of the National Defense Education Act in which the Federal government shares cost of the expenditure; approved agreements for continued employment of current school architect John L. Reid and Partners for the next stage of construction at Del Valle High; approved compilation of a community report on past, present and future programs and problems facing local secondary schools.

2. Moved for the appointment of Mrs. Elizabeth Chilton as a

Dramateurs' 'Picnic' Sets High Dramatic Standard

By THE REVIEWER

The theater-going public of central Contra Costa County can be glad it has four more weekends in which to feast upon the Dramateurs' production of William Inge's prize-winning play, "Picnic."

Performed is one of the most ambitious settings ever undertaken by the local little theater group, the play opened its five-weekend run last Friday night at the Lafayette Town Hall.

ALTHOUGH this play has been successful and crowd-pleasing wherever it has been produced, the Dramateurs' offering is styled in the best theatrical taste, and the result is a well-spent, entertaining evening.

Carl Rasmussen, the director who has been responsible for all of the Dramateurs' productions, has combined the lavish setting with fine casting and interpretations to achieve the fine, all-around effort.

The play itself concerns the devastating effect of a young drifter (George Everett) upon the lives of a small group of people who are about to embark on a small town picnic. Everett is quite appealing in his portrayal of Hal, who nearly wrecks the idealistic visions of two young ladies, played by Vickie West and Lurette Mattson.

ALWAYS POPULAR with local audiences because of her versatility in the dramatic art and her stage presence, Tish Winkworth, the Orinda housewife, scores another triumph in her role as the nearly naive school teacher-boarder.

Other excellent performances are rendered by Katie Genesey as Mrs. Owens, Wirtabel Harris as Mrs. Potts, Lucy Williams as Christine, Boyd Hunter as Bomber, Ethel Appel as Irma, George Meyer as Howard and Perry Palin as Alan.

The three-dimensional American Gothic appearance—in the Grant Wood-John Steuart Curry style—is generated through the sets, lights, costumes, props, sound effects and furniture, in order to portray the yard and porches of two homes in a small midwestern hamlet.

ALTHOUGH many local groups have reserved and sold out evening performances of the production, some tickets are still available, and may be obtained by calling Mrs. Harris, CL 4-2460. They are also available at the box office.

A Dream, A Plan, A Purpose, A Site — For All Cooperation Results In Area, Children Benefit

It is wonderful to be able to thank people for doing an excellent job... especially when the results benefit our children and their growing, curious minds.

In this particular instance, Philip Bancroft Jr., the people behind the development of the Diablo Junior Museum, and the developers of the Marchbank Property are all due for commendation. Metro Homes, Inc., in submitting a tentative subdivision map to authorities, has allocated some seven acres of the property, including a lake, as a site for the Junior Museum project.

This follows an offer by Mr. Bancroft, made nearly four years ago, of five acres of his property lying adjacent to the lake property, if the Marchbank developers would match the gift.

NOW, IT LOOKS as if a long-time dream by a few far-sighted people will become a reality.

A beautiful site is available, and it will not cost a cent. Special congratulations are due Mr. Bancroft, because there is no doubt but that he could have sold that property for a very tidy sum.

Instead, he chose to benefit the area youngsters and donate the land.

Similar congratulations go to the hundreds of people who have worked on the Junior Museum project—and it has served youngsters from Orinda to Concord and from Martinez to Danville—truly an area-wide project.

MANY MOTHERS have donated their time during the summer to provide transportation for the older children, who have been pursuing their activities at the Diablo Junior College, and for the younger classes, which have been meeting at Walnut Creek School.

Without them, the program could hardly have succeeded.

And in a similar manner, all the people who have worked on the Diablo Junior Museum auxiliary have helped the fund-raising aspects of the program.

But mostly, it is a perfect example of cooperation without the often prevalent provincialism that sometimes occurs. Without the cooperation of either Mr. Bancroft or Metro Homes, the site would not be a reality.

WITHOUT THE HARD work of the board of the Diablo Junior Museum, the idea would never have gained momentum.

And without the support of parents and youngsters throughout the area, it would not have had a purpose.

Congratulations are due all around, and it is a pleasure to say, "Hats Off, and Well Done!"

It's Just an Idea, But... Entire Area Could Share

Wanted: Some additional foresight to follow the excellent example listed above.

Qualifications: An open mind, an ability to project a future idea, and above all, an ability to cooperate in a difficult task.

Necessary: A cooperative attitude and a complete abhorrence of the comment, "It hasn't been done before, so we can't do it."

The program: To build a community and cooperative center at the least possible cost to serve a variety of interests in harmony and mutual benefit.

IT MIGHT BE POSSIBLE for several Central Contra Costa County organizations to achieve a building program and facilities beyond their hopes, if they are willing to cooperate with other organizations.

There is the nearly certain fact that the Diablo Junior Museum will shortly be the proud possessor of a 12 acre site in the Walnut Creek area.

The Diablo Junior Museum, of course, is an area-wide organization serving residents throughout Central Contra Costa County.

Probably, the old Walnut Creek Sportsmen's Club building will be moved onto the property to house the Junior Museum Activities. But the time will come when this group will wish to expand its facilities.

Could it be that a few other groups in the area, also serving a wide interest, might be able to join with the Diablo Junior Museum in constructing facilities that will eventually benefit all concerned at a reduced cost?

A FEW WEEKS AGO The Sun carried an editorial pointing out that many, many groups in the area are planning on building facilities, and that, frankly, there simply isn't that much money floating around.

The editorial also suggested that several of these groups might pool their resources in order to accomplish together something that none of them could accomplish alone.

It seems logical that the Junior Museum site, which is relatively centrally located, might become a sort of area-wide community center, limited to organizations which would appeal to similar groups.

For example, if several groups were to pool their resources and design a function building, not only might the Junior Museum program be enhanced, but perhaps a small theatre could be included which would serve many of our flourishing drama groups.

The setting would appear logical for the purposes of some of our art groups, too.

AS FAR AS WE KNOW, no group has approached the Diablo Junior Museum group with such a proposal, nor has this group asked for such proposals.

But it would seem that this is a logical opportunity for the development of a facility that would benefit the entire area, as well as the individual groups...

...and save all of us some money when the old tap on the shoulder comes around to contribute to your favorite project.

We think it is logical. How do you feel about it?

A SCENIC JOY is the area on the edge of Marchbank property in east Walnut Creek, which Junior Museum leaders hope to convert to a wildlife refuge and recreation area, complete with lake, at right, and clubhouse. Shown are Alex Lindsay, Junior Museum president, and younger members of the Lindsay household.

INFORMATION!

Dear Editor:
I allowed my subscription to The Sun to lapse, and am I sorry!

I just read in my neighbor's copy about the proposed relocation of the Bear Creek Road. This directly affects me and had it not been for The Sun, I'd have known nothing about it!

Enclosed is my $3.75 — for heaven's sake, please keep me posted!

FLUORIDATION

Dear Editor:
I am distressed by the action of the Lafayette School Board following certain vocal protests against the distribution of information on fluoridation through the school children. They failed to demonstrate any clear cut philosophy against which to measure the questions raised — and as a result appeared weak and wavering instead of strong and objective.

The board has a responsibility to the community to set forth criteria and standards for education. They are not asked to run a popularity contest—which could only end in all recess periods and no classroom periods. Since they did not have a chance to consider the document prior to distribution, they should have evaluated it calmly after the question was raised. I believe there are three questions raised which they should have considered:

1. Was the information factually correct?
2. If factually correct, does the nature of the facts change if the subject happens to be pertaining to coming elective decisions by the citizens?
3. Is the factual information within the sphere of support of adult education accepted by the Lafayette School District?

Let us look at these three questions. What is a fact? Most statements accepted as fact are objected to by a minority as being erroneous. This is particularly true in certain investigative scientific fields where complete knowledge is not yet known.

So that we may consider this first question alone, let me point out that my son recently brought home from a Lafayette school, a printed notice, reading in part, "Everyone needs four Polio Shots! Begin, Continue or Complete Your Entire Family's Protection Now." (Note: the punctuation is as printed—perhaps it was not reviewed by the school.)

Polio is not on any ballot so we can consider this notice in parallel with the information on fluoridation. It is interesting to note that many anti-fluoridation publications are also anti-polio vaccine. Let me quote a few such statements:

"Polio is purely a dietary malady as was proven by Dr. Ben Sato in North Carolina a decade ago."

"Polio is not a disease; it is merely a condition — basically toxemia."

"But it (Ed Note: referring to an organization called Polio Prevention, Inc.) did hurt the vaccine racketeers who are promoting the most unchristian, deplorable, dishonest farce and racket ever forced on a helpless American public."

If we say that the material set forth on fluoridation is not fact, then we must also say that the information set forth on polio is not fact. Therefore we must not teach either in our schools; or we must actively teach that they are not truths so that students are not misled.

Through history many things have been taught in school that subsequently have been found to be wrong. Schools can only teach that which they feel is supported by the preponderance of accepted authority. I think that both information on polio vaccine and information on fluoridation meet this standard.

The next question considers whether a fact becomes something else because in the near future it will be involved in an election. If facts do change, then a study involving President Eisenhower would not have been permitted in 1956 when, while President, he campaigned for re-election. By the same basis, all mention of Democrats and

We Like It Here... Help! I'm captive in a Chinese Noodle Factory!

By MARIE MONAHAN

Interesting Day! We have a two o'clock appointment with a Chinese Noodle factory in Oakland.

You see, we lost a coat Sunday night. No, you don't see — not yet!

LOSING the coat was the only sad note to a letter-perfect day at Squaw — the Grande Finale finish of the Winter Olympics.

Wouldn't have missed it! It was like the Fourth of July, New Year's Eve, the Mardi Gras & the March from AIDA all rolled into one!

That man Disney did it up right. He let loose with maybe a million balloons (we're sure Mickey Mouse & Donald Duck have been blowing them up for months!)

We watched the balloons billow out of white boxes like giant soap bubbles. We watched them sail into the blue yonder, their gumdrop colors fading into mere poppyseed specks against the sky. They floated onward & upward & over the mountains to Heaven knows where & we kept a wet eye on them till the end.

But we did not keep an eye on the coat!

We stopped at a Chinese restaurant in Auburn, a little town up the road. In the warmth of the cafe, we peeled off the coat & hung it on a hook on the wall. Then we forgot about it. UNTIL —

We reached Vallejo & reached for the coat. No coat. No sympathy. Everybody turned a deaf ear.

"Oh, FORGET it!" "It was FIVE years old!" "Good! Now you can buy a new one!"

AH, but this was a special coat. An old favorite. Mellowed with time, wrinkled with care, its Teddy Bear warmth had served as a TV robe, football blanket, a cozy coverall when napping.

But we got NO sympathy. Absolutely none!

Instead we were reminded that ladies are always losing things — like gloves at the theatre & husbands at the Olympics & can never remember where they put the ear keys, or the camera which they left in the ladies room...

WE WERE reminded that once while touring the West, we lost two hours back-tracking 40 miles to find another coat left in a coffee shop.

Well, the Norwegian in us persisted & home at midnight, we put in a call to the restaurant.

"Hello, na-lo" said the lady with a crisp accent at the other end. We told of the coat & she was glad she'd found it. In a charming Chinese accent the lady who's name is Evelyn & who is owner of the cafe said yes, she would be glad to mail it to us. Laboriously, like M in mother, V in victory, we spelled out our name & address for her.

(The Chinese fortune cookie with dessert had predicted "Good News will come to you in the mail." Now wasn't that amazing!)

We thanked her, ready to hang up when she had a thought — "Say, I come to Oakland Chinatown tomorrow to visit brother & buy noodles. Maybe I leave package for you some place?"

Then she told us how she'd been buying her noodles from Yuen Hop Co., for the past eight years. We promised to try some.

It was quite an ending to quite a day — the perfect International note.

WE promised to buy the noodles. She promised to bring the coat. We promised to tell our friends what good Egg Flower Soup she served. It was a very clever conversation — especially when you consider the hour.

So, we're off to pick up the package, to get our old friend back. It has been suggested we buy some noodles while we're there — especially a NEW one for ourself...

Now WHAT do you suppose is meant by THAT remark!!!

FLUORIDATION

Dear Editor:
I plan to vote NO on Fluoridation in June. Here are three of several reasons for this decision.

1. Fluoride is an insidious poison, harmful, toxic and cumulative in its effect. We are told it will be added in 'safe' amounts, but who can guarantee it will reach the consumer in this same proportion, and what about the person who drinks more water than the four glasses per day on which this is based?

2. Not one proponent, not even the U. S. Health Department will guarantee that no one will be harmed. Furthermore, no city or health or dental organization will assume responsibility if some child is harmed. Why risk harming even one child by mass medication when those who desire it can take the chemical in more economical and controlled form?

3. Then there is the deep moral question involved. No group, not even a majority, has the right to force mass medication on the whole population. Eight months ago I was a pro-fluoridationist, but now my vote is NO. If the schools send out fluoridation information, both sides should be represented, just as our local newspaper should willingly print information on both sides.

Under The Sun Two Ideas: How to Join And Problems of Growing

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

"Hey, boss, I see you're reading something about Girl Scouts. Watcha going to gripe about now? The color of their uniform? You going to tell them how to run their outfit, as you did with Boy Scouts?"

It's Snoopy, the office cat.

No, Snoopy, I certainly am not. Remember, I questioned having boys enter Cub Scouts at eight years old? Well, the roof fell on me and before you know it, the Scout Council gave me a job and now I'm having to work. Believe me, I'm not opening my mouth about Girl Scouts. I think their uniforms are delightful and their organization is fine.

Now, Snoop, you get out of here and let me finish

How to do it?

I have two points to discuss today. First, some boys and girls do not join youth groups because they "don't know how to get in" or "nobody has invited me to join."

On the other hand, our youth groups emphasize the need for welcoming and recruiting youngsters. They want your child and mine to have the opportunities offered. I could make this an involved problem. But it need not be. If your child or your neighbor's child wants to join a youth group, simply pick up your local phone book.

You'll find a "headquarters" listed under "Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA or Camp Fire Girls." These offices will be happy to give you information. It is as simple as that. Don't wait for an invitation. How does the group know your child wants to join? Phone for information!

Do you remember when?

Secondly, let's talk about—"Growing up is a hard thing to do!"

I am taking this title from a booklet issued by the Girl Scouts of U.S.A. I do so because Girl Scout Week starts this Sunday and I join the nation in congratulating the Girl Scouts on their tremendous work. At the same time, this praise is shared with the Camp Fire Girls, whose Founder's Day is April 17. This will be the fiftieth anniversary of the Camp Fire Girls.

These two, plus Boy Scouts, YMCA, and other youth groups, play a tremendous role in helping our children grow up. Here is a discussion of growing up and the Girl Scouts:

Parent, neighbor, teacher... or hermit—you must have noticed that growing up seems to be getting harder than ever.

Space, rockets and kids?

Noticed how TV and jet planes, atomic power and space rockets are changing the world we grew up in?

But have children really changed?

Remember yourself at seven—wanting to explore the world beyond your block or the hills beyond your father's pasture.

Later it seemed the world was so big you'd never find out everything in it—but you wanted encouragement to try. More than anything else you wanted to be understood—and to understand yourself.

As the adult world came closer and closer, you wanted respect for your ideas and a chance to prove your readiness to accept responsibility. And probably, somewhere along the journey from seven to seventeen, you met at least one grownup who was astonished to find that you managed to grow up at all!

Wherever you are...

Wherever you live, you've surely seen at least one member of an organization that for nearly 50 years has been helping girls to grow up—Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

In the United States one girl out of seven belongs to the Girl Scouts—2,500,000—over 3 1/4 million members if you count the men and women who help them. (Fewer than one half of one per cent of these are paid staff). Add 30,000 daughters of Americans living and working in 47 countries and you get a clue to the size of the Girl Scouts.

If you remember your own growing up years, you may understand many of the whys of Girl Scouting—and want the answer to some of the whys and hows.

Why do girls want to be scouts?

"...because you get to go places and you learn how to get there by yourself." Remember what a delight that was at seven or eight or nine! No wonder this BROWNIE SCOUT is glad she got a chance to join.

Through Scouting everything in life becomes interesting and fun—it offers each girl just what she wants in any field—it's a group where each and every girl is considered important. Tall or short, fat or thin, everybody learns at different speeds and in different ways but everybody needs to know where they are going and why—especially when you're between 10 and 14 like this INTERMEDIATE SCOUT.

"In Scouting you get the thrill of being trusted with a big job—and know the joy of doing it well." From 14 to 17 the world is closing in—or opening up as it is for this SENIOR SCOUT.

Is Girl Scouting a club?

Unlike a club which is formed by a few girls whose interests coincide for the moment, Girl Scouting gives youngsters continuity and a variety of ever-expanding activities.

Small democratic groups of girls, called troops, make their own plans and elect their own officers. At their side are grownup friends, called leaders, who help them to focus their interest long enough to carry out their plans. Scouting offers them help in their daily life and a link with other girls in their town, their county, state, country, and world.

Who pays?

Major support for administering Girl Scouting in our community comes from our contributions to United Crusade, and sometimes from gifts, grants, or bequests. The girls and their parents finance many of their activities through special projects and weekly troop dues.

If you've ever bought a cookie from a Girl Scout, you've helped your own or your neighbor's children grow into the kind of women and wives you'd like them to become. Cookie profits, in varying proportions, are divided between your Girl Scout troops and the local administrative unit—called a council.

Ho Hum, Here We Are...

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Restless, dreamy, in love with life one moment, hating it the next? Good!

Spring Fever with all its wonderful sensations of new awakenings, mixed up emotions and aroused ambitions have me, and a lot of other adults temporarily in a turmoil.

So what? We all too often forget how we really felt as teenagers, but spring fever for the adult is a pretty accurate description of an adolescent's state of being 'year round.

WE BECOME embroiled with how to "cope" with our teens. Magazine articles, books, psychologists, school counsellors go on ad infinitum about methods of "meeting the needs of today's teen"; "understanding the adolescent"; "policing student drivers"... good subjects, but often conflicting and confusing to the conscientious parent.

Why should we "cope" with our teens, why not love 'em, accept 'em and live with them as human beings?

Exasperating as it may be to find the milk in the cupboard, the dish towel in the refrigerator and peanut butter in the freezer, we all have moments when we are a little absent minded, especially in the spring.

Mom adds another gray hair when Johnny zips off with her car, Dad is angry when daughter regards him as being just short of moronic, and then there's the nagging over homework, chores, late hours, and ridiculous diets.

THE PICTURE is not gloomy, just normal, remember not what you did, said, acted as a 'teen, but how you felt?

Take a look at the teens around you. Not the unhappy few who make scandal headlines, but the majority who are a joy to their parents, school and community. For example the hundreds who will convene at Pleasant Hill High School tomorrow as delegates from the Junior Statesmen, Golden Gate Region. These youngsters are hard-working, civic minded students.

Ever attend a post-game dance at a school or recreation center? It's an enlightening experience. Several hundred teens massed together could present a problem, but the problems have been few and far between. The kids are there for fun and they have it.

GIVEN THE opportunity for constructive leisure time activity teens use it wisely. Guided with a firm but gentle hand, they will eventually find which direction their particular interests will lead them in life.

All of the high schools in this area have some National Merit Scholars. These boys and girls are hardly headed for delinquency.

Let's salute our fine teens, relax and enjoy them without hullabaloo. Catch a light case of spring fever, it will help bring understanding to your heart.

On the Lighter Side!

By LIZ FOLLIARD
CL 4-5667

One of the most intriguing events being planned for the Spring activities of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Units is that of the Orinda Orioles.

"A Trio of Treats and Teas" is the alliterative name chosen for the three scheduled events, and this phrase was the brain child of Ruth Walker who is a member of the Oriole ways & means committee. Instead of having three book review teas as they did last year, the various events will be of a quite different nature and appeal.

First Treat & Tea to Be April 7

The first Treat & Tea, titled "Hi Fashion World" and presented by Mrs. Altha McManus, will take place on Thursday, April 7 at the Orinda Community Church at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. McManus is an Orinda resident and has had much experience in putting on fashion shows. She has managed many fashionable private weddings and has also worked for Madame Foley.

On May 12 at the same hall in the Community Church, Mrs. Kenneth S. Martin will present the second treat, "Charm in a Capsule." Mrs. Martin comes from Oakland. This will be a most entertaining and instructive show and I assure you that it is not just a lecture on mere make-up.

Mrs. Martin is quite an actress in her own right and will may-be show us how we look to others and shouldn't.

Mary Dorr Will Give Book Review

Last of all, our own dear Mary Dorr is flying up from her home in Malibu to give us another of her incomparable book reviews. We have all heard Mary in the past and we are indeed fortunate that she is willing to come back to do this for the Orioles. Both Mary and her Mother, Harper Wright were active members of the Orioles while residents of Orinda.

Tickets for the three Treats & Teas are $5 but single admissions may be purchased for $2. I recommend that you get your tickets soon. Contact Mrs. Ruth Walker, CL 4-3196. The date of the Third Treat is June 9.

A lovely Tea was held at the home of Mrs. Harmon Howard on Feb. 25. The guests were the Republican Women of Walnut Creek. The speaker for the gathering was the newly elected president of the Young Republicans of California, Mrs. Fred Sevall of Los Angeles. She told of her recent tour of the N.A.T.O. countries which she made at the request of President Eisenhower and under the auspices of the State Department.

One of the Ex. "On the Lighter Side" columnists, Ina Bliesner, is now publicity chairman for the Walnut Creek School and has sent me this bit of news. An anticipated "full house" became a reality early in February when mothers of the children at Walnut Creek School trooped out on a bright and sunny day to attend the "Founder's Day Luncheon."

Founder's Day Lunch Is Gay Affair

Around three-hundred gaily dressed ladies enjoyed an afternoon which featured a fashion show presented by Jean Harris' "Casual Corner." The models were Elaine Armour, Peggy Thompson, Ruby Perry, Mattie McGlauffin, Eleanor Meachem, Nancy Williams, Caril Heim, and Natalie Imbric.

May Nakane, an artist at decorating, really drew raves with her elegant red and white table arrangements. Spotted here and there were Shirley Beeson, Symbolene Catledge, Betty Woodsman, Grace Garfinkle, Cherry Peterson, Betty Sands, Joy Goepfert, Arlene DuBois, Ann Lea and Norma Melnicoe.

From the Linnet Jrs. comes some news of the activities of several of their members. Mal and Peggy Channing recently attended the State Meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Monterey, Calif.

Ambitious Vonie Dondero arose at 5 a.m. last Monday to trek to Squaw Valley for just one day and night. She was accompanied by two equally eager friends and I just bet it was worth the effort for all three!

Pre-Floral Tea Lunch Planned

A joint luncheon is being given by Joan Mason and Joan Fuller on March 8 as a preamble to the Flamingo Floral Tea at the Diablo Country Club. Both girls will model at the show.

Another of the Linnet Jrs., Pat Landwehr is to be a model at the Flicker Fashion Show which is scheduled for March 27.

A delightful baby shower was held early in February for Mrs. Joseph Stewart from Castro Valley. Joan Nilon and Sally Hendricks were co-hostesses.

From the Robin Unit are several items re their various comings and goings. Mr. & Mrs. Carl Lais recently enjoyed a three week trip to Mexico, visiting Mexico City, Acapulco and several interesting small towns.

Their daughter, Sharon Lais is spending a year of study in Athens, Greece. Mrs. H. B. Richman and her daughter Linette together with Barbara Thomas, will spend March 4, 5 and 6 at Squaw Valley on a Ski Trip.

Here, There, Everywhere They Go

Mr. & Mrs. Gil Young and their children Pam, Penny, Dave and Sarah spent Sunday February 21 at the Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Wally Garard and Dr. & Mrs. Robert Martin spent the Washington Birthday Week-end at Pollack Pines.

They broke in the Martin's new International Harvester carry-all. Four adults, five children and two dogs went on this exciting trip and a gay time was had by all.

Another wedding to report is that of Miss Lynn Tolles. Lynn is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. King Tolles of Concord. The groom was Warren Abbott from Cottonwood, California. The wedding ceremony took place in the Little Chapel of Flowers in Walnut Creek.

After their honeymoon the newlyweds will reside in Sacramento.

Three young girls, Jean, Barbara and Sandra, the daughters of Towee member, Mrs. Gardner, recently spent a happy week-end skiing at Dodge Ridge.

Devotion to Church, Home, Community . . .

Serene Kathy Litsinger Serves With Competence

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Exemplifying the finer attributes of modern woman by her devotion to church, family and community, Mrs. E. C. Litsinger of 209 Patterson Boulevard, Pleasant Hill, meets the challenge of today's topsy-turvy world with serene competence.

As members of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek, both Mrs. Litsinger and her husband Ed served the church in several capacities. Both were vice presidents of the Seabury Club, and she taught Sunday School.

WITH CHEERFUL ABILITY, the Litsingers are now sharing their knowledge of the church and its functions with the new Church of The Resurrection Episcopal Mission in Pleasant Hill.

"I was thrilled to be chosen as a delegate to the convention of the Diocese in San Francisco and share the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see our Bishop consecrated," she said. Kathy Litsinger also has the impressive title of Christian Social Relations Chairman, which translated means she is in charge of calling all names listed as being willing to pitch in and help when trouble comes to some family in the church.

As Mother to Margaret, 5, and Jimmy, 8, Mrs. Litsinger serves as a room mother for kindergarten and third grade at the Diablo Vista School. She also helps with the Junior Museum and Jimmy's butterfly collection.

Asked if they had any pets, she first said, "No, we live on a very busy street." Then with a delighted exclamation she added, "Oh yes, we do too! We have a hamster and a turtle."

COMMUNITY SERVICE for this versatile lady is headed by her interest in the League of Women Voters. She has served the local league Board since its beginning as public relations chairman, membership and voters service chairman and vice president. At present she is chairman of their State Finance Study. She is also a registrar.

As a comparatively new member of Walnut Branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay, she has already taken on the responsibility of serving the branch as chairman for the rummage sale to be held in April.

The Litsingers entertain a lot, both socially and for fund raising for their many volunteer interests. "Time goes by so fast, sometimes I wonder how I get everything done. I do a lot of baking and cooking ahead, and I think the freezer is the greatest invention for modern women," she said.

WHEN SHE COOKS creatively, she likes to use wine, sour cream, mushrooms and all those "horribly expensive things."

Both natives of California, the Litsingers met on a blind date while students at the University of California at Berkeley. They were married in Berkeley in 1950 and since then have shared many interests and family fun.

Camping heads the list, for husband Ed and son Jimmy are ardent fishermen. Mrs. Litsinger likes to read, but not fish, and she looks forward to the camping trips as a quiet time when she can sit by her fishermen and read, read, read.

LAST YEAR, she said, "I was on an archeology binge and most of my reading was concerned with that subject; however I do a lot of reading on California business, history and finance."

As a couple, the Litsingers like to attend the Civic Light Opera series. "My favorite money spending," she laughed, "is going to plays."

Bouquets of Spring Theme For Junior Women's Show

The Junior Women's Club of Walnut Creek will present a champagne, desert fashion show on Saturday, March 12, at 1:30 p.m. in the Alamo Women's Clubhouse on the Danville Highway.

"Bouquets of Spring" is the theme and spring bouquets and streamers will decorate the tables. The decor will be arranged by the crafts committee, Mesdames Coleman Johnson, Robert May, and Glen Short.

Organized eight years ago the Junior Women will celebrate their founding with a birthday party this month. They continue to carry out their object of promoting educational, social, civic, and philanthropic work. These projects are carried out harmoniously with the Senior Women's Club, with California Federation of Women's Clubs, district federation, and general federation.

The principal philanthropy for the Juniors this year has been the furnishing for the children's room of the proposed Walnut Creek library. They have high hopes reaching their goal in this second year of their efforts.

Immaculata Guild Has Successful Spring Show

Once again "Suddenly It's Spring" luncheon and fashion show sponsored by the Immaculata Guild of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Walnut Creek, was a tremendous success.

The array of spring hats and bright outfits of the throng of women attending the show made the afternoon a gay affair.

The Florentine and Garden rooms of the Castlewood Country Club, decorated to give the effect of one being in a Japanese garden, were appropriate for the showing of the vivid spring fashions shown by Irene Sargent's of Oakland and Kladee of Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Donald MacLean welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Robert Munn, who was general chairman of the event.

The models promenading the ramp were colorful in the shocking colors of oranges, pink, tangerines, avocados, turquoise and blues. The ever-popular suits were of the subdued colors of beiges, greys, browns and blacks.

The gayly printed cotton dresses with applied sweaters to match, tunics, sheaths, coat and dress ensemble and floral cocktail dresses were most popular.

The accessories used were scarves twirled on the head, as neckline wear and around the waist; bags were large and cumbersome, gloves of all lengths, hats of all styles and very little jewelry.

Working with Mrs. Munn to make the fashion show a success were the Mesdames James Pinder, Charles Diers, Anthony Messina, Richard Ringwood, Jr., Louis Cousin, Robert Mueller, William James, William Sheeran, Lloyd King, John Heagney, Milton Giulieri, and Joseph Silva.

Carol Joy Johnson Wed To Franklin Lee Grant

Montclair Methodist Church of Oakland was the scene of the Valentine's Day wedding of Carol Joy Johnson to Franklin Lee Grant Jr.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Johnson of 19 Carmello Road, Walnut Creek.

For her wedding at which Dr. Edwin Schmitt officiated, the bride wore a gown of aqua nylon chiffon, waltz length, fashioned in princess style. The graceful, rounded neckline was edged with braid, and she wore a matching braided crown to which a short veil was attached.

Dainty pearl earrings, white gloves, and matching slippers completed her costume. The bridal bouquet was of white carnations sprinkled with blue-tinted daisies, with long blue and white satin streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's only attendant was her sister, Judith Johnson. She wore a pale yellow embroidered taffeta sheath with corn colored satin cummerbund and slippers. She carried a bouquet of stylized carnations in corn and pale yellow with matching ribbons.

Frank Wartenweiler of Oakland stood with the groom. Assisting in the seating of guests were the brothers and brothers-in-law of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a white wool sheath dress, followed in pale pink and wine, with matching accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The groom's mother chose a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a delicate pink hat. Her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception was held in the social hall of the church immediately following the wedding. The recent bride is a graduate of Las Lomas High School where she was active in the music department and a life member of California Scholastic Federation.

The groom is a graduate of Hayward High School and has just completed four years in the U. S. Air Force. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Lee Grant Sr. of Oakland.

The newlyweds are at home on Warwick Avenue, Oakland.

Help, Help, Help! Volunteers Needed

Did you know there are more artists at every level of proficiency here than any other place in California?

Are you tired of commuting to San Francisco to view an art exhibit or hear a concert?

Do you long to try your hand at ceramics or lapidary without the costly investment in equipment?

Do you feel there is more to living than this frantic scurrying to get, to spend, to do, to use up time and talent in the passing hour?

Do you think you could live more creatively if you were given the chance?

A COMMUNITY art and cultural center can make this possible for all East Contra Costa County, said Mrs. Barbara Bucci, publicity director, Diablo Pageant of Arts.

The Diablo Pageant of Arts needs volunteers to assist with the fifth annual Diablo Pageant of Arts to be held May 27-31 in Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Evadne Wenker, executive director, said there are many ways in which volunteers may serve. Feature story writers, advertising salesmen, sign painters, typists, file clerks, hostesses for social events and exhibits, junior art and popular art committee workers, rough carpenters, electricians, babysitters, display guards, and receptionists are some of the ways individuals may help, she announced.

Those interested in volunteering, or in supporting the Pageant of Arts with their membership, may call Mrs. Wenker at YE 5-7624 or YE 7-2997.

Beaming of Educational TV Is Topic

Plans to make educational television available to approximately half of Contra Costa County's 108,000 public school students will be told at a meeting of district superintendents Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in the Martinez School Administration building.

Larry Smith, educational consultant for KQED, will describe a proposal to relay programs to central and eastern areas of the county by locating a translator on Mt. Diablo, on a direct line with the transmitter at San Bruno.

At present instructional television from KQED is used by Richmond and other West Contra Costa County schools, by Danville Union District and on an experimental basis in Mt. Diablo Unified District.

Treasure Trove At Eager Beaver Thrift Center

It is certainly true that one person's cast-off is another person's antique. Almost every woman owns a cherished glass bowl or a piece of ceramic or brass that she picked up at a rummage sale.

The very best spot for this type of treasure hunt is the Eager Beaver Thrift Shop at 3437 Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette.

HERE IS A treasure island of shelves filled with bright home accessories, where you can browse as long as you like. You'll find just that bit of glass or metal to dress up the coffee table.

There's even a small planter in a wonderful shade of blue already planted with friendly little plants that would love to live with you. So if your knick-knack shelf has knicks that knacks, fill in the spaces with a bright figurine, a small carved wood goblet or an odd piece of old china.

Diablo Valley 20-20 Annes Have Installation Dinner

The Diablo Valley 20-20 Annes recently elected new officers for the next six month term. The installation dinner was held at Mike Lynn's Restaurant in Orinda.

Mrs. Joyce Georgette of the Vallejo 20-20 Annes was the installing officer. Mrs. David Gerlach of Alamo was the outgoing president.

The incoming officers were: President, Mrs. John Shea of Walnut Creek; Vice President, Mrs. Donald Mount; Secretary, Mrs. William Comerford; Treasurer, Mrs. Bert Williams; Project Chairman, Mrs. David Gerlach; Telephone Committee, Mrs. Ronald Monroe; Publicity, Mrs. Gerald Mullin. Guests at the dinner were members of the Vallejo 20-20 Annes.

One of the main projects of the local 20-20 Annes is sending boxes of clothing and items needed to two orphanages; one in Korea and the other in Honduras. In the past three months, since the start of this project, 13 cartons were sent.

Other plans call for an early April Wine Tasting Party to raise money for the Lynn School which is located here in Pleasant Hill.

The members of the Diablo Valley 20-20 Annes are wives and fiancées of members of the Diablo Valley 20-20 Club.

Bible, Science Compatible? See Film Tomorrow

A serious-minded high school student's search for facts and fallacies relative to the alleged incompatibility of the Bible and modern science forms the backdrop for a motion picture drama to be shown at Contra Costa Youth for Christ, tomorrow night, at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center.

Two complete rallies are at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Entitled "Monkey Business," the 50-minute color film traces the adventures of a teen-ager named Jim and his impetuous friend Toby.

"Face it," Toby says, "monkeys are an awful lot like people." To which Jim counters, "I believe God created monkeys to be monkeys, just as he created people to be people."

FROM THESE two viewpoints springs a story that swings the gamut from cinematic mirth to a bedrock search for spiritual and scientific truth.

The two boys visit the head of a university biology department, a professor evolutionist who nonetheless carefully documents problems he faces in seeking to trace species-to-species development.

The biologist then introduces Jim and Toby to one of his junior instructors, a man who has given considerable study to the Bible and science. Through the aid of these two educators, the boys come to an invigorating respect for both science and the Bible.

This rally will also include a special singing girls trio from Oakland.

The all-teenage choir, called "The Teenagers," will open the rally under the direction of Dick Hamilton.

THE QUIZ program will include three high school YFC Club quiz teams competing against each other.

This is the first rally a church revolve-account will be introduced.

This is a plan whereby the largest single church delegation will be recognized and presented with a picture of Christ.

The public is invited. Admission is free but there will be a free-will offering taken for the expenses of the rally.

New Advisory Committee For Valley Art Center

A group of Bay Area artists have formed an Artists' advisory committee for the Valley Art Center. The committee will counsel working members of the Art Center and will undertake the formation of an artists' guild.

The proposed artists' guild would become a permanent part of the Valley Art Center and would provide an information service for artists, as well as sponsoring juried shows.

Members of the newly-formed advisory committee include three well-known painters from the faculty of the University of California: Michael Czaia, of the department of architecture; and Karl Karsten and James McCray from the art department.

Other outstanding painters who have joined the committee are: Peter Blos, Gloria Brown, Blanche Brody, Sylvia Fein, Theodora Gardner, Nel Hirschkind, Robert Jensen (who teaches at Oakland High School), Betty Pesche, and Jesse Thomason.

Sculptors are also aiding the Center: Elia Hale Hayes, head of sculpture at the College of Arts and Crafts; Martin Metal, the director of the Junior Center of Arts and Sciences in Oakland, a sculptor of metal; as well as Bohas Benes, wood sculptor; and Florence Swift.

An artist who is known for his work in both painting and sculpture is committee member Jonathan Batchelor.

From the field of ceramics come artists: Tony Prieto, head of the art department at Mills College, and Inez Butz.

Jewelers, too, are supporting the committee: Bob Winston, formerly at the College of Arts and Crafts, and David S. Harris.

Other artists who have joined the Valley Art Center artists' advisory committee are Vesta Vetter, known for her weaving, and Mildred Simon, who has done outstanding work in serigraphs and mosaics.

Ram Wrestlers Roll Up North State Mat Crown

The Pleasant Hill Rams wrestling team did themselves proud last Saturday when they copped two titles and rolled up 45 points which was more than enough to win the Northern California wrestling crown.

Coach George Galli placed four entrants to the big meet and all came through to earn points which enabled the Rams to top the field.

Lennis Cowell took the 112-pound title while Tom Foster walked off with the 165-pound championship, with George Bruns finishing second at 175 and Doug Euranus the runner-up in the 127-pound final.

Ten DVAL wrestlers were entered in the meet and two others walked off with medals. Denny Toll took second in the heavy-weight class while Frank Gutierrez of Pittsburg picked up points with a third at 106 pounds.

Hanford wound up second with 31 points while Camden was third with 28. Turlock had 25 while Castro Valley and Fresno tied with 23 each, Oakland and Madera each had 21, Castlemont 19 and San Lorenzo 18.

Acalanes had nine and Pittsburg totaled four.

The Pleasant Hill team with four qualifiers won the meet by virtue of the fact that all reached the finals and in so doing rolled up the score.

THE RAMS were presented with a plaque at the conclusion of the meet which will remain in their permanent possession. They will become possessors of the large perpetual championship trophy as soon as it is passed on by last year's champion, Castro Valley.

The win climaxed a most successful season for the Rams, with four qualifiers in every tournament they have entered this year.

Three-Way Meet Opens Mat Track

The Miramonte track teams enter their first meet of the season this afternoon when they play host to Pleasant Hill and Antioch in a three-way meet.

Miramonte was hit by graduation last spring as were others, but when they lost Dixon Farmer a lot of points went with him as in meet after meet he copped three firsts and then ran a lap on what was very often the winning relay team.

Head coach Don Phillips and his assistant Bob Brooks have had a squad of 42 working out since February 15, and this afternoon's performances should give them some indication of where they stand.

On the Bees, point-getter looks to be Dave Dunning in the 1320, Dick Palmerman in the sprints and Charley Aberham in the pole vault.

George Galli Is Victorious Coach At Pleasant Hill

George Galli, the popular Pleasant Hill High School coach and physical education instructor, is not a native Californian, but he is not far from it.

He was born in Ohio in a town with the colorful name of Martin's Ferry, and moved with his parents to Pittsburg, California, when he was only 2½ years old.

GEORGE WENT through the grade school and then on to Pittsburg High, where he was a stand-out football player in 1944-45, and made all county guard in '46. He also lettered as a shot putter on the track team and then put in a four-year tour with Uncle Sam's Navy. There he starred in football, boxing and wrestling. He wound up as a runner-up in the All-Navy wrestling tournament in the 175-pound division.

On release from the service he put in a year at Diablo Valley College, and made all conference playing as a fullback and defensive guard. That was in 1952. Nineteen-fifty-three, '54 and '55 found him hitting the headlines play as a guard at the University of Southern California.

In 1956 he was taking graduate work and coaching the frosh football team. His next move was to Pleasant Hill High School, where he has been ever since, serving as a physical education instructor and along with it coaching the line in varsity football and as head wrestling coach since 1958.

HIS FOOTBALL lines have been standouts and his wrestling has been a most successful program. In his first year at the helm he won the Contra Costa Division title.

This year they repeated—along with it taking the DVAL title, then the North Coast Section championship, and last Saturday they really hit the jackpot as they copped top honors in the Northern California meet held at Berkeley.

Earlier in the year they brought home the championship trophy from the Bay Area meet held at Hayward, with the top 16 schools of the area competing.

WHILE AT USC, he met a pretty young miss with the name of Doris Thomas. Miss Thomas changed her name to Mrs. George Galli in July of 1957.

Galloping Gaels Try to Halt Bronco Title Bid

Swinging into the season's finale, the Galloping Gaels will meet their arch-rivals, the Broncos of Santa Clara in a West Coast Athletic Conference tilt tonight in the St. Mary's gym.

There are several big things going on the block. The Gaels were leading the league until knocked out of the running in Los Angeles last weekend. Nonetheless, as a long-standing rival they represent a major stumbling block to the Broncos' title hopes.

THE GAELS will be out to break a three-game win famine against the Broncos which dates to last year. The Santa Clarans tripped the Gaels in the final WCAC game last season, 67-66, and twice this year: 60-54 in the second round of the WCAC holiday tournament and also in league play, 74-48. Finally the Gaels will be out to preserve a two-year win streak in their Moraga confines.

Santa Clara has not captured a conference title since 1954 and will be shooting for victory behind the guns of Frank Sobrero (6.3) and Jim Russi (6.3), both seniors. If the Broncos humble the Gaels, it will necessitate a championship playoff with Loyola.

On the other hand the Gaels have everything to gain and will be going all out to salvage a tie for second place in league play. They will be aching to reverse the drubbing handed them earlier this year by the Broncos.

THE FROSH contest shapes up as the decider for this year's Bay Area yearling laurels. Both Santa Clara and Saint Mary's freshman clubs sport only one defeat on their seasonal records. The Gaels lost to the Bronco first-year men who, in turn fell to the California frosh.

Both games are tossups in which anything can happen, in the tradition of Saint Mary's-Santa Clara athletic events.

With the game already a sell-out, it may be heard over KPUP-FM.

Knights Defeat Clan; Title Tie

The Las Lomas Knights won a close 55-51 decision over Piedmont High last Friday afternoon, to end up in a tie with the Acalanes Dons for the Foothill Division title.

The game played at Piedmont found the Clan taking a 12-11 first quarter lead, only to trail 30-23 at the half. The clubs played on even terms in the third quarter as each team hit for 14 points.

The Piedmont crew made a go of it in the final quarter as they outscored the visitors 14-11, only to go down with a final 55-51 count.

Tom Nichols, the circuit's top scorer last season and this, added to his grand total with 23 points while brother Bob had 12.

Piedmont had four players with 10 or more points as Dave Shaw collected 18, Bill Clayton 13 and Rick Prestwood 10.

In the Bee game the Knights took the decision, 37-31.

Dons Shave Mats In Court Play To Gain Honors

The Miramonte Matadors threw a scare into the Acalanes varsity basketball team last Friday night, but the Dons staged an uphill battle of their own in the closing five minutes, to cop the win, 30-29, and with it went a tie with Las Lomas for the top spot in the '59-'60 standings.

The game played at Miramonte found both clubs on the cold side as far as shooting went, with the Dons' 12 points in the fourth quarter the only time either team hit in double digits in any quarter of play.

THE DONS took a 7-5 first quarter lead and it was 12-12 at the half as it turned into a defensive battle.

In the final period with five minutes left on the clock the Dons looked to be down as they trailed 27-18.

Paul Colin sparked the Dons with a jump shot and seconds later hit again to pace the Dons to a 12-point outburst.

A layin by Colin with a minute and 10 seconds to go gave the Dons a 28-27 lead and again Colin hit in a jump shot from 10 feet out to make it 30-27.

CENTER JACK GILBERT put Miramonte back in the game with a field goal with 15 seconds to go.

It was bedlam when Colin was fouled and had two free throws with five seconds remaining. He missed the first and Miramonte grabbed the ball in the second miss and called time with three seconds to go.

It gave the Mats the ball at mid-court and nearly the game when a well executed pass in play gave Gilbert the shot from close in. It rolled in and out as the final buzzer sounded.

COLIN HEADED the Don scoring with eight points. Tom Strain had six as did Mel Simpson for the Dons.

Miramonte's Bill Caldwell had 11 for game honors while Gilbert had eight points.

In the Bee game Miramonte wound up with the championship as they won 41-34. Dave McQuaid of Miramonte had ten points, as did Jim Hansmatt and Gary Miller for Acalanes.

Preps Named To All-Star Cage Squad

The play in the Foothill Division was close all season long and proved the circuit to be a well-balanced one. The season ended last Friday with Acalanes and Las Lomas tied for the top spot.

The first two all-star teams released by the coaches after meeting at Las Lomas High last Monday night found each of the circuit's five teams placing a member on the top club.

TOM NICHOLS of Las Lomas was the only one to be a repeat, having placed on the first team last year.

The first two teams as selected were as follows:

F—Tom Nichols, Las Lomas (senior).
F—Wayne Forsell, San Ramon (senior).
C—Paul Colin, Acalanes (senior).

G—Bill Caldwell, Miramonte (junior).
G—Rick Prestwood, Piedmont (sophomore).

SECOND TEAM:
F—Dave Shaw, Piedmont (senior).
F—Mel Simpson, Acalanes (senior).

C—Bob Nye, Las Lomas (senior).
G—Jack Gilbert, Miramonte (junior).
G—Don Nelson, Acalanes (senior).

Weather Helps Preps Get Started in Spring Sports

By ERWIN MATTISON

Spring is here at least as far as prep sports are concerned. Co- tests get underway this week after practice officially opened on February 15.

The weather, the early part of the week in particular, has been uncooperative as it has been on the cool side while coaches and players alike want warm weather. It's much more conducive to a good workout when the players can perspire, or to use a more athletic term, sweat.

The swimmers especially at Acalanes found it most uncomfortable, as the heating system went out because of a valve and resulted in a closedown as far as warming the water, until necessary repairs could be made.

The headline of the day is the release of the Foothill Division All Stars Hoop squad. It is interesting to note that no one team landed more than one player on the first team.

The league play in the hoop sport has really been close in the two years of its existence. Last season Acalanes, Las Lomas and Miramonte wound up in a three-way tie and this year Acalanes and Las Lomas tied again.

In a playoff last season the Acalanes five wound up the winner and went on to do themselves proud in the Tournament of Champions as they took second place in a select field.

This year the bid to the Tournament of Champions goes to the other division of the DVAL—the Contra Costa section and Clayton Valley gets the call after tying with Pittsburg for the top spot, and off the basis of their season play should do well in the tournament play.

The caliber of ball played in the local area is recognized by fact that Acalanes and Las Lomas have bids to outside tournaments. Acalanes goes to Chico this weekend to play in the Acker Tournament. In fact, they played yesterday, today and will hit the hardwood again tomorrow for the final round. Las Lomas is taking part in the Tracy Tournament.

It has been predicted that Miramonte would become a power in short order in swimming, with the acquisition of their new pool, and on the basis of turnout they seem to be on their way. More than 80 have signed up and are hard at work readying themselves for the coming season. It's the largest turnout for any spring sport at the Orinda school, so they seem to be on their way.

I see where Joe Sheaff, ex-Acalanes player, hit the headlines last Tuesday night when playing center for Santa Clara University, as he hit a personal high of 29 points to help defeat the University of San Francisco 84-67.

Joe, son of Orinda's Superintendent of Schools Joseph Sheaff, hit on 13 of 15 field goal shots and added three points from the foul line, while further helping the winners' cause as he grabbed off 23 rebounds.

He will be seen in action again tonight when Santa Clara faces St. Mary's College at the local school gym. A Santa Clara win here would tie it all up and force a playoff, whereas a St. Mary's win would give Loyola a title.

One thing certain, if you want to get in I would suggest you go early—around 4 o'clock this afternoon might be a good time.

Award Banquet For Rams Is Set

The Pleasant Hill Rams will hold their letter banquet on Wednesday in the school's multi-use room.

Block letter awards and individual honors will be presented to Coach Art Poulin's basketball team, along with the Bee team.

Coach George Galli's Northern California wrestling champions will also be honored.

BASKETBALL will award the most valuable and most improved players along with an award to the outstanding opponent.

Wrestling awards are to go to the most valuable, most improved and the team's captain.

Lyle Palmer, baseball coach, will be the master of ceremonies, highlighted by Phil Woolpert, former University of San Francisco coach, who will be the speaker of the evening.

Take Advantage Bare Root Time Before It Closes

Here are items for this week's gardener's checklist:
Depending upon the weather, of course, bare root season normally ends in mid March in most areas. Set out roses, fruit trees and others that are easily planted this way.

Watch new growth on roses for signs of aphids. Haul out the sprayer and shoot on sight.

For easy weed control, try the new chemical that knocks weeds and weed seeds without harming roots of established plants.

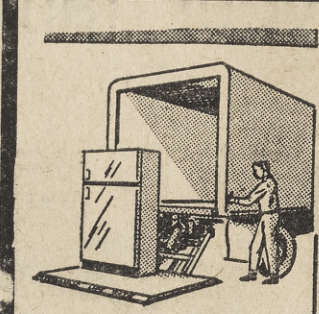

Tubed bamboo that is beginning to overcrowd can be divided this month.

Tigridia or Mexican Shell Flower can be planted now for its striking show of bloom in summer. Single plants send up a bloom a day for a month or more.

ANTELOPE'S EYES
The pronghorn antelope's eyes are as big as a horse's and he can see small objects several miles away, according to the National Automobile Club.

Your Garden Time Is Here to Think About Planting New Lawn

The time has come, as the warblers said, to speak of many things. And among them if you garden in California, is the subject of lawns. Are you or aren't you going to plant a new one? For if you are, the time has come to think of it.

Yes, we know it's a bit early to plant a lawn, but not too early to prepare for planting it. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen suggest some pre-planting steps that are essential to success with new lawns.

FIRST, DO IT the easy way and rent a rotary tiller to turn the soil. It may cost a bit more than turning it with a spade, but we guarantee you'll make up for it in time saved.

Tilling is probably the most important step in preparing a seed bed. It is during this step that compacted soil can be improved with the addition of soil conditioners and manure. The C.A.N. feels no amount of manure is too much at this point. Let your pocketbook be your guide.

After adding what you plan to add, go over the area again with the rotary tiller, working the new material into the soil. Chemical fertilizer, if you are going to add it, should be raked in after the final grade is established.

THE NEXT STEP is to check weed infestation. This, too, is simple with one of the new fumigants or sterilants that subdue not only existing old grass and weeds, but any seed in the soil as well. The old and tedious process of hand weeding after the lawn sprouts is thus eliminated.

You have to wait a prescribed period after applying the fumigant before seeding the lawn. Depending on your soil, this time may be well spent by soaking the seed bed regularly and watching for low spots that collect water. Fill these as they appear.

Just after seeding (later in March and April), cover the seed with a layer of fine peat moss or manure and keep it moist. During the crucial month when all seed is sprouting, adequate moisture is the one and only thing you really have to worry about. Meet the need and the seed will take care of the rest.

Filing for Tax Exemptions Is Underway

County Assessor C. L. Dunklee announced today that the period in which war veterans may file claims for tax exemption will begin Monday.

Veterans who received the tax exemption last year need not come into the office to file claim as they will receive affidavits in the mail in the near future.

These forms should be returned as quickly as possible in order to assure proper credit of the exemption on their property.

In cases where the veteran is filing for the first time or did not receive exemption last year, it is necessary that the veteran appear in the assessor's office, having with him his service discharge papers and also the description of the property on which the exemption is claimed.

The veteran is allowed an exemption if his assets are valued at less than $5000.

If the property is community property held by the husband and wife, the amount is $10,000. This includes stocks, bonds, real and personal property.

Assessed values rather than market value of real property are used in determining the veteran's net worth.

The exemption, sometimes referred to as California's substitution for a bonus, applies to both men and women; the widow; pensioned widow; or pensioned father or mother of the veteran.

It should be noted that last year the state legislature passed a law moving the final filing date from the last Monday in May to the first Monday in May. This year, in order to be acceptable, all forms must be postmarked prior to May 2.

Men's Garden Club Notes 27th Year; Installs

The Mount Diablo Men's Garden Club celebrated its 27th anniversary at a birthday party and ladies night on February 25 at the Concord Inn.

Speaker was Steward Wade of the Orchard Nursery of Lafayette whose topic was "House Plants Are Fun for Everyone."

Wade formerly was president of the club.

New officers were inducted. John Crow of Martinez was master of ceremonies.

Officers include Edward N. Munns of Concord, president; Lloyd F. Smith of Martinez, treasurer; Forrest G. Predmore of Oakland, secretary; Fred Gelboke of Concord, sergeant at arms.

The Men's Garden Club was organized in 1932 by seven local gardeners under the sponsorship of the Oakland Business Men's Garden Club. It was the second strictly men's garden club to be formed in the country. Oakland was the first.

Club membership is open to all men of Contra Costa County interested in any phase of home gardening. The primary objective is to promote interest and activity in gardening projects in the home and in the community at large.

It also is to foster the pleasure of members in gardening in all its varied phases, and to exchange ideas and information. Regular dinner meetings are held on the last Monday of each month.

Seal Drive Needs 600 Contributions

Late returns have brought the 1959 Christmas Seal campaign to its goal, Mrs. George Chapman, chairman of the Christmas Seal campaign of the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association, announced.

Total seal sale returns this week amounted to $61,250. With a program of work planned for the 1960-61 year necessitating a budget of $63,000, at the present rate of giving, only 600 contributions are needed to guarantee the program will not be curtailed, she said.

More than 30,000 persons have contributed to the voluntary campaign against TB. Mrs. Chapman expressed the thanks of the Tuberculosis and Health Association to the citizens who gave time and money to aid the Christmas Seal sale. This includes more than 700 volunteers who have given an estimated 6000 hours of work.

Home Remodeling Ideas

Lead Tape for Windows

One of the most popular features of our newer homes being built today are the "Diamond Leaded" doors and windows.

In the event your home was built before this time, and you desire to add this "Diamond Leaded" feature to your doors and windows, you can now do the job with a new "Lead Tape" recently put on the retail market by the "3-M" company. This tape is pressure sensitive, that is, sticks just like Scotch tape. It is actual Lead on the top. The tape comes in rolls 3/8 inch wide by 36 yards long, and sells for $6 per roll. It is also sold by the foot for 7 cents per foot. An average size window would take 32 feet to get the proper "Diamond Leaded effect" and thus cost $2.24 per window. When properly installed, it is difficult to tell the difference between it and actual leaded windows.

The tape may be obtained at Pearson Lumber Co., Hookston Rd., Pleasant Hill.

Stud Driver Fastens Anything to Concrete

A new tool, known as the Remington "Mighty Mite" is now available to "Do It Yourself".

This stud gun, as it is known in the professional trade, is a gun that actually shoots a nail through wood or metal into concrete or metal.

It can be used to fasten wooden mudsills to concrete, to fasten furring strips to basaltic walls, to fasten electric boxes to concrete or metal walls, etc. Thus it has made the carbide drill, lead shields, and lag screws obsolete.

Various length studs or nails are available to fasten different thicknesses of material to concrete. The gun itself sells for $39.95, but can be rented for $1 per day. The stud, with the necessary cartridge costs 25 cents. After a short explanation, anyone can be immediately licensed to operate the gun. The gun is absolutely safe and harmless, but should be kept away from children. See it at Pearson Lumber Co., Hookston Rd., Pleasant Hill.

Real Estate Viewpoint . . .

Some Talk of Complaints, And Values on the Rise . . .

By BILL HAYWARD

EVERY YEAR ABOUT THIS TIME . . . the complaints come flooding in from irate home owners that really have a legitimate beef . . . Here's the problem.

An owner has listed his home with a Realtor and has in most cases spruced it up by polishing the floors, having the rugs in apple pie order, the porch mat in most cases ready to clean the mud from the salesman's and the prospects' shoes.

AT ANY RATE as long as the rains last during the winter this is what happens . . . people are sort of thoughtless . . . track in bits of dirt, hunks of adobe . . . gravel sticks to wet shoes very well, and wall to wall carpets clean it off, too.

My point is directed both to the homeowner with a house For Sale . . . and to the thoughtless "LOOKER" . . . and Real Estate Salesman . . . CLEAN YOUR FEET BUDDY . . . or if you cannot get your shoes clean . . . take 'em off.

Have a little respect for the homeowner you are visiting. Even the use of a few pieces of newspaper just inside the front door will accomplish the same result . . . How would you like to be constantly picking-up after each showing of your home . . . mud and stuff?

AND WHILE WE ARE ON THE SUBJECT OF BEEFS . . . folks sure would like it if the Real Estate Salesman would lock up the houses they show when they leave. . . I for one know from experience in selling a few houses in the Walnut Creek area personally . . . some Real Estate Men . . . and women too, for that matter overlook the fact that they MUST RE-CHECK all OUTSIDE DOORS . . . before they leave a property unattended.

Our California homes have lots of outside doors. Some as many as seven. Watch this!

CONTRA COSTA COUNTY . . . is facing a new problem in Real Estate these days . . . since 1955 there have been very few big tracts of houses constructed . . . granted that the local builders are under way in several areas with new homes in the $30,000—and up bracket . . . It looks as tho the days of the $15,000-house are fast drying up . . . except, of course, the large G.I. and FHA subdivisions that we hear about in San Jose and Sacramento, Stockton and in Southern California.

Walnut Creek and Lafayette in particular are bound to feel in the not too distant future a sort of a "SCARCITY OF SHELTER." BY THIS I MEAN, homes in the 10 to 15 year age group . . . those homes that seem slightly obsolete . . . have on the average 3 bedrooms, and one bath . . . like a Gregory Gardens or an El Dorado Park or a Pleasant Acres Home . . . will be priced on the up-grade because such homes are becoming hard to find.

We right now this very month . . . the beginning of the 3rd month of 1960 . . . are short of homes to sell in the under-$20,000-class . . . anywhere!

The majority of the listings today are in the over $20,000 bracket and naturally slower in selling . . . Re sales in Parkmead are rare. . . Resales in Sun Valley are few and far between . . . in fact if you will just drive through these latter areas and take a look at the general appearance of the homes and gardens, you will see for yourself that these folks are content and happy . . . don't have plans to move at the moment.

Unless a rare case of a transfer and a job change causing the need to sell the family home.

Prices in Contra Costa County are going up some 3 to 4% this year . . . mainly caused by the lack of new construction of the so called smaller houses. This is the viewpoint for this week.

Belgium Consul to Speak At French Club Meeting

Marcel Rijmenans, Belgium consul general, will speak to members of the new Alliance Francaise of Mt. Diablo, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Achener, 30 Vista Lane, Walnut Creek.

This will be the group's first program with speaker. It was formed in December on the urging of Robert Luc, French consul general in San Francisco.

Mrs. France Achener, the club's president, said the purpose is to increase the use of the French language and to . . . strengthen the cultural and friendly ties between other countries and France, regardless of race, nationality or faith.

SHE ADDED a French library has been started, and it will have modern and classical books and periodical newspapers and magazines.

All meetings are conducted in the French language. Memberships are open. Dues are $12 per year.

Officers of the club are Mrs. Ferdinand Jordan of Danville, Mrs. David Deutsch and Mrs. Frank G. Smith, both of Walnut Creek, vice presidents; Mrs. Louis Moyal, secretary; Pierre Achener, treasurer and librarian.

COMMITTEE members are the Mesdames Anne Ryan of Orinda, John Carothers of Pleasant Hill, Arnold Berningham of Walnut Creek and C. B. Chantler of Orinda.

Robert Luc is "president of honor" and honorary presidents are Prof. Edward Keylan of Berkeley.

If this ranch home was new, located at the end of a court street for the children's safety, had an electric kitchen for modern living, a fireplace to give the living room warmth and 3 bedrooms and 2 baths to stop traffic jams, it would be just ideal. Well, it is! Its driveway is a little steep, but that lets it sit up off the road with a nice view. Almost finished. See it now.

Stars in Your Eyes

When the stars are out and the moon reflects from the swimming pool through the floor to ceiling living room, bedroom and kitchen windows it takes your breath away. Its seclusion on an acre knoll in Happy Valley gives a breathtaking view from its extra spacious living room. It's not for the large family but the electric kitchen, 2 baths, 2 bedrooms and den and the large living room makes for gracious living for just the right family. See it today, $32,950.

Goldman's Tells Of New Store In El Cerritto

Goldman's, the East Bay's leading women's specialty shop, announced the signing of a lease with the Albert-Lovett Company for a shop in El Cerrito Plaza, Fairmont and San Pablo Avenues, El Cerrito, yesterday.

The lease, for a 12,000 square foot store, was signed by Robert Wahrhaftig, Goldman's legal advisor, and Douglas St. John, Albert-Lovett vice president, and will result in a $1,500,000 investment by Goldman's in the Contra Costa County regional shopping center.

With an 8750 square foot main floor and a 3250 square foot mezzanine, the shop will feature Goldman's complete selection of women's and girls' fashion apparel, sportswear, lingerie, accessories, shoes and a beauty salon, according to the announcement by Bruce Goldman, president and grandson of the founder of the store.

Mrs. Edwards, Ken Wohn are 'McBeth' Leads

Two Contra Costans have been named to major singing roles in the American premier of the opera version of "Macbeth," to be presented March 29, April 1-2 at Hertz Hall on the University of California campus.

Mrs. Rayna Edwards of Walnut Creek will sing the role of Lady Macbeth, and Kenneth Wohn of Orinda will play Duncan.

The opera is directed by Dr. Jan Popper and is being produced by his opera workshop on the UC campus and guests.

Written by Ernest Block, the opera has recently been premiered at La Scala in Milan and the Berkeley performances will constitute the American premier.

Both Wohn and Mrs. Edwards are associated with the Diabolo Pageant of Arts Society and are working on the production of "Opera, Opera," a chamber opera, for the May pageant.

Tickets for "Macbeth" are available at the drama, lecture and music ticket office on the Berkeley campus.

Audition for Jr. Festival

Young musicians from Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Orinda, Concord, Danville, and Pleasant Hill will be among more than 200 individuals who will audition for the seventh annual Junior Bach Festival, Berkeley.

According to William Duncan Allen, festival music director, about one in four can look forward to selection to perform in one of the festival programs to be held during Festival Week, April 24 to May 1.

Drive-In Office Opens Monday for EBMUD

The East Bay Municipal Utility District's new drive-in business office at 1550 Broadway Plaza, Walnut Creek, will be opened officially Monday, J. P. "Phil" Gustafson, local manager, said.

At 10 a.m. a ceremonial ribbon will be cut by the first automobile to use the drive-in cashier's window.

This event will be followed by a tour of the ultra-modern, one-story structure.

PARTICIPATING in the program will be Melvin F. Nielsen, chairman of the county board of supervisors; F. J. Granzotto, mayor of Walnut Creek, and Paul Tickner, president of the Walnut Creek Area Chamber of Commerce.

EBMUD personnel will include Louis J. Breuner, president of the utility district, and the other members of the board of directors: A. C. Carrington, William D. McNevin, G. Howard Robinson and Harold W. Saunders.

Also F. H. Eastman, EBMUD secretary, and Kenneth D. McCloskey, commercial division manager.

Ground was broken for the $71,983 building on September 28. Contractor is F. C. Kirkham of 1290 Walden Road, Walnut Creek.

THE NEW facility, located at the corner of Locust Street and Broadway Plaza, features plenty of off-street parking as well as the convenient drive-in window.

The Walnut Creek business office replaces the one in Lafayette, which will be closed permanently.

The accounts of more than 20,000 metered services in the Orinda-Lafayette-Walnut Creek-Danville area are being moved to the new office, which will be staffed by the same personnel who managed the Lafayette office.
